Robinia Character Spring Rocker

Materials & Construction

Body: Robinia log carved as an animal head, all cut edges rounded to R25 mm. As natural timber, dimensions may vary slightly

Handle & footrest: Steel handle on a steel saddle plate, and a steel T-bar footrest

Spring: Steel coil spring, fixed with an M16 threaded rod, washers and lock nut; bolt holes closed with cover plugs

Foundations: Steel ground anchor frame set in a foundation about 0.5 m deep

Installation: About 4 hours; total weight 80 kg

The free-fall height is 0.75 m and no impact surfacing is required, so the springer can go on grass or turf (BS EN 1176-1 allows turf up to 1.0 m), or on any EN 1177 surface. We'll recommend the right finish for your site.

How to Use

Character spring rocker

The child sits astride the log, holds the handle, rests their feet on the footrest and rocks forwards, backwards and side to side on the spring.

Benefits:

Rocking builds balance, core strength and coordination; the carved animal face invites pretend play, and the handle and footrest give young riders a secure position.

Inspection & Maintenance

Routine visual check weekly (daily on busy or vandal-prone sites), an operational check every 1–3 months and a main inspection once a year. Check the spring, handle, footrest and fixings are tight and undamaged, the cover plugs are in place, and the ground around the spring base stays level. Replace worn or damaged parts promptly with genuine spares. Morti Sport & Play offers annual inspection and maintenance for school and public sites.

Why Choose This Product

A Robinia log carved into a friendly animal face, on a single steel spring with a handle and footrest. It brings a little character to natural play areas without bright plastic, and suits children from age 1.

- Carved character design sparks imaginative play
- Handle and footrest give a secure seat for young riders, from age 1
- Free-fall height 0.75 m with no impact surfacing required, so it can go on grass
- Designed, supplied and installed by Morti Sport & Play's own teams
