All investments involve risk. The value of an ETF can go down as well as up and you could lose money. The risk of an ETF is rated based on the volatility of the ETF's returns using the standardized risk classification methodology mandated by the Canadian Securities Administrators. Historical volatility doesn't tell you how volatile an ETF will be in the future. An ETF with a risk rating of "low" can still lose money. For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect an ETF's returns, see the prospectus.

Portfolio Strategy

HBOP seeks to provide seeks to provide long-term capital growth by investing opportunistically, primarily in large capitalization equity securities of Canadian companies and select U.S. companies. HBOP is designed to best encapsulate the Humilis' long-term fundamental opinions, themes, and positioning with respect to equity markets, sectors, and industries, and is constructed in such a manner to provide investors with core long-term equity holdings of high-quality brand-named companies in both Canada and the U.S. Humilis utilizes a strategy that combines top-down discipline with bottom-up fundamental research to identify stocks that may represent superior risk/rewards opportunities.
