

The Interrogator

Season 1

The Interrogator is a high-stakes spy drama written, produced, and starring Stephen Fry. The series follows Conrad Henry, a brilliant former MI6 agent whose uncanny psychological insight makes him the last line of defense against the world's most dangerous criminals. When conventional intelligence methods fail, Henry and his elite team use charm, intellect, and unconventional interrogation techniques to "lockpick" the minds of suspects others can't crack. Across its first season, the show blends cerebral intrigue with emotional depth, redefining what it means to uncover the truth in an age of chaos.
