BioTeknica

"Leveraging a search firm to run a thorough recruitment process to provide an educational experience on what external candidates could bring to your company is worth the investment. Lifeblood enabled our firm to have exposure to a cohort of talent combined with a high-touch, communicative process that yielded the ability for our executive team to make the optimal decision and hire. I recommend Lifeblood to MedTech service providers that have critical hiring needs."

–Braulio Ortiz

CroiValve

"We had a hyper-specific need for a strategic marketing executive that would make the difference in our company's industry positioning. We partnered with Lifeblood, who executed the search and hiring process efficiently and ahead of our timeline. Lifeblood's commitment to the MedTech industry and their quality of service makes them a recommended resource for companies with strategic hiring needs."

–Lucy O'Keeffe

Centerline Biomedical

"We retained Lifeblood to conduct a recruitment process for an Independent Board Director, which was both a successful and highly educational process. Lifeblood's quality and speed of service, and their attention to communication and details throughout the process is their differentiator in addition to their extensive executive network. I would recommend Lifeblood to MedTech companies who are in need of Independent Board Directors."

–Gulam Khan

Hiring for all executive functions

We partner with organizations developing and commercializing Class II and III medical devices, Software-as-a-Medical Device (SaMD), combination products, and diagnostic technologies on hiring strategies and talent acquisition.
