

NOTICE OF DATA INCIDENT

Family Medical Associates of Raleigh, PA, (“FMAR”) is providing this updated notice of an incident that affected protected health information stored in our systems.

What Happened?

On May 7, 2026, we became aware of suspicious activity within our computer systems. Upon discovery, we immediately began an investigation and took steps to contain and remediate the situation, including resetting credentials, isolating affected systems, communicating with law enforcement, and engaging data security and privacy professionals to assist with our investigation and response.

The investigation determined that an unauthorized actor gained access to our computer systems between April 18, 2026, and April 20, 2026. During this time frame, the unauthorized actor also downloaded certain information. We have worked continuously since May to investigate the matter and identify what information was potentially impacted in order to notify individuals as soon as possible. There is currently no evidence that any information has been misused for identity theft or fraud in connection with this incident.

What Information Was Involved?

Based on the findings of the investigation, the following types of information may have been impacted: name, address, biometric and genetic data, contact information, date of birth, date of treatment, service, or discharge, demographic information, financial account number without access info, health insurance group number, health insurance policy number, health plan beneficiary, health plan beneficiary number, health plan number, lab results, medical history treatment diagnosis or procedure, medical record number, Medicare or Medicaid ID, physical or mental condition, prescription or medication information, social security number/taxpayer identification number, and/or treatment cost information.

Note that this list describes general categories of information present within the affected systems and includes categories that may not apply to each potentially impacted individual.

What We Are Doing.

Protecting the privacy and security of the information entrusted to us is one of our highest priorities. We first posted notification of this issue on our website on July 2, 2026, in an effort to make potentially affected individuals aware of the situation and provide steps they could take to protect their information and/or communicate with FMAR about our response or related questions.

In addition to the efforts described above in response to the incident, we have taken steps to further strengthen the security of our systems. These measures include implementing additional security monitoring tools, enhancing our multi-factor authentication, and reinforcing other administrative and technical safeguards designed to better protect the information we maintain. We continue to evaluate our security practices and implement additional measures, as appropriate, to help safeguard the information entrusted to us.

What Can Impacted Individuals Do?

Out of an abundance of caution, FMAR encourages individuals to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud, to review account statements and explanation of benefits forms, and to monitor free credit reports for suspicious activity and to detect errors. Under U.S. law, individuals are entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus. Additional information and resources are outlined below.

We take this incident and the security of information in our care seriously. If you have additional questions, you may contact us at 888-619-1587, Monday – Friday, 9 am – 9 pm Eastern Time (excluding major U.S. holidays).

Steps You Can Take to Protect Your Personal Information

Contact information for the three nationwide credit reporting agencies:

Equifax, PO Box 740241, Atlanta, GA 30374, www.equifax.com/personal/credit-report-services, 1-800-685-1111

Experian, PO Box 2104, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com/help, 1-888-397-3742

TransUnion, PO Box 2000, Chester, PA 19016, <https://www.transunion.com/data-breach-help>, 1-833-395-6938

Free Credit Report. It is recommended that you remain vigilant for incidents of fraud and identity theft by reviewing account statements and monitoring your credit report for unauthorized activity. You may obtain a copy of your credit report, free of charge, once every 12 months from each of the three nationwide credit reporting agencies.

To order your annual free credit report please visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call toll free at 1-877-322-8228.

You can also order your annual free credit report by mailing a completed Annual Credit Report Request Form (available from the U.S. Federal Trade Commission's ("FTC") website at www.consumer.ftc.gov) to: Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348-5281.

For Colorado, Georgia, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and Vermont residents: You may obtain one or more (depending on the state) additional copies of your credit report, free of charge. You must contact each of the credit reporting agencies directly to obtain such additional report(s).

Fraud Alert. You may place a fraud alert in your file by calling one of the three nationwide credit reporting agencies above. A fraud alert tells creditors to follow certain procedures, including contacting you before they open any new accounts or change your existing accounts. For that reason, placing a fraud alert can protect you, but also may delay you when you seek to obtain credit.

Security Freeze. You may obtain a security freeze on your credit report, free of charge, to protect your privacy and confirm that credit is not granted in your name without your knowledge. You may also submit a declaration of removal to remove information placed in your credit report as a result of being a victim of identity theft. You have a right to place a security freeze on your credit report, free of charge, or submit a declaration of removal pursuant to the Fair Credit Reporting Act ("FCRA").

The security freeze will prohibit a consumer reporting agency from releasing any information in your credit report without your express authorization or approval. The security freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. When you place a security freeze on your credit report, you will be provided with a personal identification number, password, or similar device to use if you choose to remove the freeze on your credit report or to temporarily authorize the release of your credit report to a specific party or parties or for a specific period of time after the freeze is in place.

To place a security freeze on your credit report, you may be able to use an online process, an automated telephone line, or a written request to any of the three credit reporting agencies listed above. The following information must be included when requesting a security freeze (note that if you are requesting a credit report for your spouse, this information must be provided for them as well): (1) full name, with middle initial, and any suffixes; (2) Social Security number; (3) date of birth; (4) current address and any previous addresses for the past five years; and (5) any applicable incident report or complaint with a law enforcement agency or Department of Motor Vehicles. The request must also include a copy of a government-issued identification card and a copy of a recent utility bill or bank or insurance statement. It is essential that each copy be legible, and display your name, current mailing address, and the date of issue.

FTC and State Attorneys' General Offices. If you believe you are the victim of identity theft or have reason to believe your personal information has been misused, you should immediately contact the FTC and/or the Attorney General's office in your home state. You may also contact these agencies for information on how to prevent or avoid identity theft.

You may contact the Federal Trade Commission, Consumer Response Center, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20580, www.ftc.gov/bcp/edu/microsites/idtheft/, 1-877-IDTHEFT (438-4338).

Reporting of identity theft and obtaining a police report. You have the right to obtain any police report filed in the United States in regard to this incident. If you are the victim of fraud or identity theft, you also have the right to file a police report.

Protecting Medical Information.

If you are concerned about protecting your medical information, the following practices can provide additional safeguards to protect against medical identity theft.

- Only share your health insurance cards with your health care providers and other family members who are covered under your insurance plan or who help you with your medical care.
- Review your “explanation of benefits statement” which you receive from your health insurance company. Follow up with your insurance company or care provider for any items you do not recognize. If necessary, contact the care provider on the explanation of benefits statement and ask for copies of medical records from the date of the potential access (noted above) to current date.
- Ask your insurance company for a current year-to-date report of all services paid for you as a beneficiary. Follow up with your insurance company or the care provider for any items you do not recognize.
