Many people have benefited from working with the paradigm of Edenity over the last thirty years in ways other psychological and spiritual teachings have not. Stace Barron and Brie Ehret Barron work is understood as spiritual education, emotional bodywork, intuitive process work, empathic life coaching, and consciousness work. These services do not constitute medical, psychological, or psychotherapeutic treatment and are not a substitute for such treatment. For clarity, transparency, and mutual protection, this declaration is a prerequisite for participation in all services.
