Long:

Hi, I'm Paige. I'm a musician, producer, artist, and DJ (but I've never been very good at labeling myself). I just love music - I love making it, recording it, dancing to it, making love to it, and obsessing over little details in it.

The sound I'm always chasing is analog meets digital: real instruments with modern electronic production. Somewhere between indie dance, electronic, dance-pop, French house, and nu disco. I'm inspired by artists all over that spectrum, and Paige Terner is my outlet for taking the sounds I love and making something of my own.

All I want to do is make music that makes me feel something, and hopefully it makes you feel something too.

Short:

Paige Terner is an electronic music producer and DJ blending live instrumentation, analog synths, and modern electronic production. Drawing inspiration from artists like Darius, Vandelux, and SG Lewis, his sound lives somewhere between French house, indie dance, and nu-disco. Equal parts lush, funky, and feel-good. Paige makes music for golden-hour dance floors and anyone who believes life is short, so you might as well dance.
