

Transport of Firearms in Western Australia

Recent changes to Western Australia's firearms legislation (2025) have introduced updated requirements for transporting firearms in vehicles. When moving a firearm, it must be transported in a rendered safe condition. This means:

- The firearm must be unloaded.
- The bolt must be removed, or a trigger/action lock must be fitted.
- The firearm must be secured in a locked container that is not marked as containing firearms.
- Ammunition must be stored separately from the firearm.
- The vehicle must be locked, and the firearm must not be visible from outside the vehicle.

These requirements help ensure firearms are transported safely and securely in compliance with current legislation.
