Champagne
Prosecco

What would yachting be without Champagne?

This famous sparkling wine comes from the Champagne region in northern France. Champagne can be made from three different grape varieties: Chardonnay, Pinot Noir and Pinot Meunier. The term “Blanc de Blancs” means the wine is made from Chardonnay grapes only and “Blanc de Noirs” from the red grape varieties only: Pinot Noir and Pinot Meunier.

Since the weather in Champagne can vary year on year, most Champagne is a blend of different vintages and villages to create a consistent house style known as “Non-Vintage”. When there have been exceptional growing conditions for the grapes, producers will make a “Vintage Champagne” that contains only grapes harvested from that year. Vintage Champagnes are better quality, aged for longer than Non- Vintage Champagne and have a lot more complexity. The word “Brut” on the label simply means “dry” and is the mostly popular style of Champagne.

BOLLINGER

This house was founded in 1829 and is still in the hands of the founding family. Known for their complexity and longevity, they have a range of 4 Champagnes from their non-vintage Special Cuvée to the vintage Vieilles Vignes Françaises. This latter, prestigious Champagne comes from ungrafted Pinot Noir vines and is produced in very small quantities in only the finest vintages. The majority of the wines at Bollinger are barrel fermented, giving a broad and round structure while maintaining a crisp freshness.

LAURENT PERRIER

Founded in 1812, Laurent Perrier is family-run with sisters Alexandra and Stéphanie at the helm. Based in the heart of Champagne, Laurent Perrier has a pedigree of innovation, handcrafting a pioneering range of fine Champagnes that also abide by long-established traditions. Their house style is light, with great freshness and elegance. Their iconic rosé Champagne is one of few to be made by drawing the juice from black grapes in the vat, instead of the usual blending of red and white wines. Its delicious red berry flavours have made it a benchmark rosé Champagne.

KRUG

Despite being owned by LVMH, the Krug family are still actively involved in all key decisions and they continue to produce some of the world's finest Champagnes. Their non-vintage Grand Cuvée consists of a blend of 120 wines from 10 different vintages, some of which are up to 15 years old. It is then aged a further 6 years before release. Remarkably, this is just their entry level Champagne!

ARMAND DE BRIGNAC

Better known as "Ace of Spades" and part-owned by someone who goes by the name of "Jay-Z". But don't be fooled, there is substance and history behind the celebrity ownership and "bling" bottles. A father & son team who are respectively 10th & 11th generation owners, craft Armand de Brignac's prestige cuvées. Its 33 hectares of vines include some of the most lauded Crus in Champagne. Base wines are aged for one year in new French Oak. Each Champagne contains a blend of three vintages, bringing together the unique characters of the three harvests. And if you would like a Midas sized bottle (that's 30 litres), we can arrange this for you!

LOUIS ROEDERER

This top-quality family-owned house has deep roots in the region. It is best known for its Prestige Cuvée wine, Cristal, which was conceived following a request from Tsar Alexander II who wanted Champagne in clear cristal bottles. Roederer own 75% of the vineyards they need for the yearly production and only buy in 25% from growers, ensuring they have excellent grapes. Furthermore, they farm many of their sites biodynamically which further adds to the fabulous quality and authenticity of their range.

RUINART

Founded in 1729, Ruinart is one of the oldest houses in Champagne. It has an outstanding reputation despite having a slightly lower profile than some of the larger houses in the region. Their Gallo-Roman chalk cellars are UNESCO classified and every other year, the house hosts the prestigious Trophé Ruinart competition, which attracts some of the finest sommeliers in the world. Dom Ruinart is the name of the house's prestige Champagne which exists both in Rosé and Blanc de Blancs. As a general house, style Ruinart has a strong emphasis on Chardonnay over the two Pinots.

MOËT ET CHANDON - DOM PERIGNON

Founded by Claude Moët in 1743 and now part of the LVMH group, this is the largest Champagne house with a staggering 30km of cellars for storage. Despite the high output, quality is assured. Their Brut Imperial is the world's best-selling non-vintage Champagne. It is consistently soft, fresh and well balanced. The house's famous vintage cuvée, Dom Perignon – considered one of the world's greatest Champagnes – is named after the monk attributed with putting the sparkle into Champagne.

VEUVE CLICQUOT

Now also owned by the LVMH Group, it was Nicole-Barbe Clicquot, the daughter-in-law of the founder of the house who can be attributed to creating the company you see today. She was forward-thinking and a great innovator in Champagne. The house's top cuvée, La Grande Dame, is named in her memory. Veuve Clicquot's Non-Vintage Champagne – with its distinctive yellow label – is aged for almost twice the required period, resulting in a superb marriage of freshness and power, with rich fruit and a mouth-filling mousse.

PASS THE PROSECCO

Whilst Champagne is usually the sparkling wine of choice on board luxury yachts, we have seen a rise in Prosecco orders the past few seasons and as labelling terms can be a bit confusing; the following overview might be helpful.

Prosecco is the name of the wine region and comes from the beautiful rolling hills of Veneto in Italy, near Valdobbiadene (pronounced Val-dob-ee-ah-den-ay) and Conegliano. It uses mostly the grape variety "Glera", and sometimes smaller amounts of other local grapes. It's fruity, often with hints of flowers, apples and pears. It has a lovely freshness with just a touch of sweetness which makes it very soft and easy-drinking.

The labelling term and quality of the Prosecco will depend on where the grapes are sourced:

Prosecco DOC – This is the most basic appellation for Prosecco and means the grapes come from the flatter land around Treviso and Trieste.

Prosecco Superiore DOCG – This is a better appellation as the grapes come from the homeland of Prosecco, around the towns of Conegliano and Valdobbiadene. Here the steeper slopes and altitude help produce better quality grapes with more concentrated flavours that last longer on the palate.

Prosecco Superiore di Cartize DOCG or Prosecco Superiore di Rive DOCG – Cartize and Rive are the names of two hills that produce some of the very finest and most expensive Prosecco. Here there are much stricter rules around how it is made to ensure very high quality, creating much more complexity and richness on the palate.

If one were to crown a wine region as king, it would have to be Bordeaux. Home to the most famous wines in the world, the region wields an unparalleled influence in terms of its winemaking, with countless producers across the globe trying to replicate its style. Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot are the most important grapes here, but Cabernet Franc, Petit Verdot and Malbec are also grown. Not to forget the white wines in the region, made from Semillon and Sauvignon Blanc.

There are different communes in Bordeaux which offer slightly different styles of wine. Importantly, the region is divided into two by the Gironde River, forming the Left Bank and the Right Bank. Wines from the Right Bank such as those from Pomerol and Saint-Émilion are based on the soft grape variety Merlot. Wines from the Left Bank, in appellations such as Saint-Estèphe, Pauillac, Saint-Julien and Margaux, wines are all based on the more structured grape variety, Cabernet Sauvignon. Saint-Estèphe and Pauillac tend to have firmer tannins and more structure than the slightly softer Saint-Julien and elegant Margaux. Bordeaux is also home to the famous sweet wine from Sauternes.

PAUILLAC

This famous commune is situated on the Left Bank of the Gironde river around the small town of Pauillac. The top wines from here are often considered the quintessence of Bordeaux and the famous wine writer Hugh Johnson clearly agrees: "If one had to single out one commune of Bordeaux to head the list, there would be no argument. It would be Pauillac." Furthermore, it includes also 3 of the 5 First Growths from the 1855 classification, giving additional notoriety to the area. The hallmarks for Pauillac wines are power, firm structure, a broad palate and depth. Cabernet Sauvignon is the predominant grape, but as with all red Bordeaux, Merlot, Cabernet Franc, Petit Verdot and Malbec are also used.

MARGAUX

Margaux contains 1,413 hectares of vineyards, making it the second largest appellation in the Haut-Médoc (after Saint-Estèphe). Also located on the Left Bank of Gironde with very thin and gravelly soils. The wines are famous for their fragrance and perfume and are considered more feminine and slender than the wines of Pauillac, for example. The most famous estate in this commune is Château Margaux. Cabernet Sauvignon is the predominant grape, but as with all red Bordeaux, Merlot, Cabernet Franc, Petit Verdot and Malbec are also used (though the latter two are used less extensively).

SAINT - ESTEPHE

Saint-Estèphe is the northernmost of the six communal appellations in Médoc. As in most of the Médoc area the soil is a mix between sand, gravel and clay in significant proportion for this commune and therefore the Cabernet struggles to ripen in some spots. This has resulted in greater plantings of Merlot which ripens a bit earlier. There are five classified growths of 1855 located within the appellation, with Cos d'Estournel and Montrose being the two most famous ones. The wines tend to show a certain austerity with slightly higher acidity than the other communes.

SAINT - JULIEN

Saint-Julien is located between the Margaux and Pauillac appellations on the Le Bank of the Gironde. There tend to be two main styles of wine: in the southern part of Saint-Julien the wines tend to be more 'Margaux like' (smooth and feminine), and in the north they are more powerful and sturdy. As for grape varieties, Cabernet Sauvignon is king in this commune with Merlot and the other classic Bordeaux varieties blended in for smoothness and complexity.

MEDOC AND HAUT MEDOC

Located on the Left Bank of the Gironde, these two appellations cover approximately 60km of its length. Its southern edge borders the city of Bordeaux, encompassing fifteen communes exclusive to the appellation. The soils in Haut-Médoc and Médoc are not as well draining as in the communes above and the wines are not as deep, long lived or concentrated as in the smaller, more famous appellations. However, there are excellent estates producing very complex and fine wines, with the most celebrated examples being La Lagune and Château Camensac. There are no estates from the 1855 classification within these two AOCs but several top producers of the Cru Bourgeois classification are found here.

PESSAC- LEOGNAN

Pessac-Léognan is located in the northern part of the Graves region, south of the city of Bordeaux. The white wines of Pessac are just as famous as the reds. The red wines are made predominantly of Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot, and the whites from Sauvignon Blanc and Semillon. One of the finest First Growths is found here: Château Haut-Brion. To complicate things, Pessac-Léognan created its own internal appellation of Grand Cru Classé in 1959. Typical tasting terms for red wines are blackcurrant and cedar in a restrained earthy style. The white wines are often barrel fermented and show aromas of apricot and nectarine when young are more toast and honey with age.

RED BORDEAUX

SAINT - EMILION

Saint-Emilion is the other prestigious appellation on the Right Bank, bordering Pomerol to the west. The wines are made of mainly Merlot and Cabernet Franc. As the climate here is slightly cooler and damper, with the soils less well drained than on the Le Bank, Cabernet Sauvignon can struggle to achieve full ripeness here. The quality of the wines from Saint-Emilion varies quite substantially and there is an internal classification to give an indication of the best wines. The top wines are divided into two groups, Premier Grand Cru Classés A and B. There are currently four wines with the highest A classification: Ausone, Angelus, Cheval Blanc and Pavie.

POMEROL

Pomerol is the smallest of the fine wine appellations in Bordeaux and is located in the Libournais region on the Right Bank. The wines produced here are based predominantly on Merlot, with Cabernet Franc playing a supporting role. The soils have a higher content of clay than on the Left Bank which is suitable for the Merlot variety. Whilst it is now one of the most prestigious of the Bordeaux AOC, this reputation is fairly new, dating to the second half of the twentieth century. The reason behind this recent success is that at the time of the 1855 classification there were no châteaux included from the Right Bank. There is no internal classification within Pomerol but the uncrowned king is Château Pétrus.

WHITE BORDEAUX

DRY

Mostly famous for their red wines, some world class whites are made here as well. Around 7% of the yearly production in Bordeaux is dry white wine. The most famous are produced in the Pessac-Léognan appellation. These wines are truly great and can be compared with many of the world's best white wines. The grape varieties used are Semillon, Sauvignon Blanc and a small part of Muscadelle.

The wines will have significant oak influence having both been fermented and aged in barrels. The wines are crisp, firm and elegant showing aromas of chamomile, stone fruit and citrus with hints of creamy toasty oak influence.

SWEET - SAUTERNES

Sauternes is arguably the most famous region in the world for dessert wines. Wine is made from Semillon, Sauvignon Blanc, and Muscadelle grapes that have been affected by Botrytis cinerea, also known as 'noble rot'. This causes the grapes to become partially raisined and covered with a special mould, resulting in concentrated and distinctively flavoured wines. Only the affected grapes are used, so every harvest it is necessary to make several passages in the vineyard to select only the noble rotted bunches. The wines are then fermented in oak and aged for 12-24 months. Château d'Yquem is the most famous wine from this region.

Chateau d'Yquem is widely considered as the greatest dessert wine in the world. The estate is located on the highest hill in Sauternes and therefore benefits from the best growing conditions in the whole area. The wine is made from 80% Semillon and 20% Sauvignon Blanc. Only completely botrytized grapes are harvested by a team of 150 pickers for 110 hectares. The yields are extremely low; on average one vine gives one bottle of wine. Fermentation takes place in 100% new French oak, aged for 36 months.

Red + White
Burgundy
Top End

Burgundy, or “Bourgogne”, is a complex wine region home to some of the most expensive wines in the world. There are five wine growing areas: Chablis, Côte de Nuits, Côte de Beaune, Côte Chalonnaise and Macônnais. Chardonnay, the world’s most famous white grape variety, originated from Burgundy. All red wines are made from the delicate Pinot Noir.

Here the vineyard classification system really comes into its own. Wines using grapes from the flattest land are classed as generic “Bourgogne”. As the slopes begin to rise, the wines are classified by their village appellation. In the middle of the slope, where the vines receive the best sunlight, the wines are classified as Premier Cru or, even better, Grand Cru.

The heart of Burgundy is the Côte d’Or, which is split into the Côte de Nuits in the north and the Côte de Beaune in the south. The Côte de Nuits is known for its fuller body, longest living red wines. The most famous villages are Chambolle-Musigny, Gevrey-Chambertin, Morey-Saint-Denis, Nuits-Saint-Georges, Vosne-Romanée and Vougeot.

WHITE AND RED

DROUHIN

Drouhin is most famous for its wines from the Clos de Mouches Vineyards. In 1973, the Beaune Clos des Mouches ranked fifth in the famous 'Judgment of Paris' wine competition between ten French and Californian red wines. Drouhin has an organic and biodynamic approach to winemaking, with all wines since the 2009 vintage officially certified organic. Today, more than half of Drouhin's wines are made with estate grown grapes. This control keeps Drouhin among Burgundy's finest producers.

The Leflaive family have been rooted in Burgundy since 1717 but in 1984, Olivier Leflaive launched his own line of wines. Olivier began as a small négociant, buying grapes from selected growers and making the wine himself. Since 2010, he owns several parcels of land in the famous villages of Puligny, Chassagne and Meursault. He quickly established a reputation for producing high quality wines that express the personality of the vineyard.

LOUIS JADOT

Louis Jadot was founded in 1859 by Louis Henry Denis Jadot. It owns 280 acres of the most prestigious Premier and Grand Cru plots in the heart of Burgundy, the Côte d'Or. The aim of the winemaker is to express the subtle differences between terroirs that are the essence of Burgundy. They farm their vineyards sustainably and hand-pick all the fruit to ensure the highest possible quality. In the winery, they employ the lightest possible touch with a restrained use of oak maturation to allow the fruit flavours to shine through.

BOUCHARD PÈRE ET FILS

Bouchard Père et Fils was founded in 1971 and is one of the oldest producers and vineyard owners in Burgundy. With 130 hectares of vines across many of the most prestigious appellations, it is the largest landowner in the Côte d'Or. This is where you find the most famous villages, growing only Pinot Noir and Chardonnay grapes. Some of their old underground cellars in Beaune date back to the 15th century, where some of the walls are as thick as seven meters and extend for an impressive four kilometres, ensuring the best possible ageing conditions for their great wines.

LAURENT PONSOT

Laurent Ponsot is one of Burgundy's most respected and visionary winemakers. After decades at the helm of his family estate in Morey-Saint-Denis, he founded Domaine Laurent Ponsot to pursue his own uncompromising vision of terroir-driven wines.

Deeply attached to authenticity and transparency, he is known for his meticulous vineyard work, late harvesting philosophy and minimal intervention approach in the cellar. His wines are precise, vibrant and remarkably expressive, offering purity, energy and impressive ageing potential.

These are refined, characterful Burgundy wines crafted with passion and integrity.

WILLIAM FEVRE - CHABLIS

William Fevre has grown into one of the biggest landowners in Chablis, with 51 hectares of prestigious vineyards. They have set the benchmark for Chablis, the appellation known for its fresh, elegant and mineral white wines made from 100% Chardonnay grapes. Many of Fevre's wines are not kept in oak, but for the Premiers Crus and the Grands Crus they put a proportion of the wines in old wood barrels to add extra complexity and texture. Since being purchased by the Henriot Champagne, William Fevre has seen considerable investment which is reflected in the increased quality of the range.

RHONE VALLEY

Hermitage

Despite the fact that the Rhône Valley produces some of the best wines in the world, this region tends to be forgotten in the yachting industry. The Rhône is one of the great wine rivers of the world, beginning its life in Switzerland and making its way through France to become the central feature of the Rhône wine region lying between Lyon and Avignon. Though the Rhône is thought of as one wine region, it falls into two parts - the Northern and Southern Rhône. Each has a different climate and grows different grape varieties.

GRAND VENEUR

Domaine Grand Veneur was created by Alain Jaume in 1979. It originally extended over 9ha but has since grown to 78ha of vineyards located in the finest plots of the Southern Rhône Valley appellations Châteauneuf-du-Pape, Lirac and the Côtes du Rhône. The wines are beautiful and come highly rated from many wine critics. "This estate, under the leadership of Sebastien and Christophe Jaume, continues to be one of the reference point producers for relatively modern styled Châteauneuf du Papes. In addition to their top tier efforts, the portfolio is loaded with smoking values at just about every price point."

GUIGAL

Guigal is famous in the Northern Rhône, particularly for its Côte-Rotie. Guigal makes single vineyard wines La Mouline, La Landonne and La Turquie, often nicknamed the “La-La” wines which are highly sought after. Côte-Rôtie is dominated by the grape Syrah, alongside a small addition of Viognier to give it a slight perfumed and floral aroma. Guigal was also key in resurrecting the region of Condrieu, which was close to disappearing, where they make rich, full-bodied wines made from 100% Viognier with aromas of apricots and violets.

CHÂTEAU RAYAS

If one had to name the “Pétras of the Southern Rhône” it would have to be Château Rayas. This legendary estate in Châteauneuf du Pape is producing extremely sought-after, glorious wines made of 100% Grenache. The 23ha estate is located on sandy clay soils, giving a cooler microclimate which allows for slow maturation of the grapes - resulting in elegance and perfume. The style of the final product is perhaps best captured by Jeff Leve: “The bouquet is haunting. The purity of fruit can be other-worldly, the textures are extraordinarily silky, elegant and sensuous.”

VIEUX TELEGRAPHE - CHÂTEAUNEUF-DU-PAPE

A wine estate based in the Southern Rhône in Châteauneuf-du-Pape, the name Vieux Télégraphe comes from an old telegraph station that stood on the same hill before the winery was established. The top wine, the Vieux Télégraphe, is made of a typical blend with Grenache accounting for two thirds and the rest made up with Syrah and Mourvèdre. The average age of the vines is 60 years and the wines are rustic, earthy and complex.

CLOS DES PAPES - CHÂTEAUNEUF-DU-PAPE

Famous wines from Châteauneuf-du-Pape, made by the extraordinary winemaker Paul Avril. Grapes are sourced from 20 different plots of land, from low-yielding vines to give the best concentrated flavours. They never use new oak, resulting in elegant but powerful wines. Production is kept very low at only 1000 cases per vintage making some of the better vintages sometimes difficult to find. To find the true character of these wines, they are best drunk with a little age and can even last for decades. The 2005 vintage won the best red wine in the world in the Wine Spectator's yearly competition.

Beaucastel is one of the largest estates in Châteauneuf-du-Pape. In this region, there are 13 grape varieties (8 red and 5 white) and Château de Beaucastel is the only estate to make wines from every variety. They use a large proportion of Mourvèdre in their reds, which is unusual for these wines. The wines are big, structured and velvety. In addition to the reds, Beaucastel produces two different whites, including the rare 100% Roussanne "Vielles Vignes" made from very old vines.

Provence

Bandol

With more than 300 days of sun per year and mild winters, Provence benefits from a lovely Mediterranean climate that is perfect for growing grapes. The region is most famous for its pale pink rosé (although there are also great red and white wines to be found). With its delicate colour, wonderful freshness and light fruity flavour, Provençal rosé really is the perfect drink for a hot summer's day and a must-have wine for a yacht. The wine is usually made from a blend of grape varieties including Syrah, Carignan, Cinsault and Grenache.

Domaines Ott is the most famous producer in the region, however recently there has been a renaissance in high quality rosé, so there are many other excellent producers to choose from including Château d'Esclans and Château Gassier. There is a lot of innovation happening here, with winemakers experimenting with the use of oak, organic farming and biodynamics.

CHÂTEAU D'ESCLANS

Château d'Esclans was founded by Sacha Lichine in 2006, and the impact this estate has had on the reputation of rosé wine throughout Provence should not be underestimated. With the launch of ultra-premium rosé, it is made in a Burgundian way (with oak fermentation and oak ageing), and the extreme focus on quality and with high prices has created a phenomenon in the area. According to Andrew Jefford, "This is the best chance pink wine ever had".

Most of the vineyard holdings are rated Cru Classé, which are considered the best vineyards in the region. They make four different quality ranges and the 'Or' series contains the flagship wine for each colour. The 'Rose et Or' is one of the finest rosés from Provence and is made of 50 year-old Grenache vines, giving great complexity and depth to the wine.

Saint André de Figuière is a family owned estate with an impeccable reputation, run by Alan Combard and his children. Alan was born in Provence but before he settled down in the region, he made wine in Chablis for more than 20 years. Perhaps that explains the elegance, purity and minerality of both the white and the top rosé wines. THE BANDOL REGION

Bandol is a key appellation in Provence, but as opposed to the larger Côtes de Provence, this region is equally famous for its complex, deep red wines as it is for its fragrant and well-structured rosés. The main grape here is Mourvèdre, which is a rather powerful variety with firm tannins and aromas of black brambly fruit and roasted smoky herbs. It needs plenty of sun and heat to ripen, which makes Bandol the perfect spot with its sun-drenched terraces near the sea.

Loire is a very exciting region where white, red, dry, sweet and sparkling wines are produced. Some of the wines from Loire are world famous and some are the best kept secrets in the world of wine.

Sancerre and Pouilly-Fumé are familiar names to most wine lovers. Made from the grape variety Sauvignon Blanc, these white wines are crisp and refreshing with aromas of gooseberries, lime and minerals. Though Pouilly-Fumé can only produce white wine, the Sancerre region also produces light reds and rosés made with the Pinot Noir grape. Typically, these wines are best drunk young and not made for ageing. Further west in Touraine, there is another white wine producing appellation called Vouvray, using the grape Chenin Blanc, which makes fantastic wines with great ageing potential.

DIDIER DAGUENEAU

Didier Dagueneau used to be known as the “wild man of Pouilly”, not only for his exuberant personality but also for his radical ideas. His dedication to show the world what the Sauvignon Blanc grape was capable of made him cut the yields by 50%, receiving biodynamic certification in 1993, and pay relentless attention to all other production aspects. Tragically enough he died in an accident in 2008 and the production of his legendary wines is today overseen by his son Louis – Benjamin who continues with the same dedication.

This is the largest and arguably the most famous Pouilly-Fumé estate around. It has been in the hands of the Comte Lafond and Ladoucette families since 1787 when the Comte Lafond purchased the estate from the illegitimate daughter of the French king, Louis XV. They make several high-quality wines but it’s the Baron de L that is the most prominent in the yachting industry; a very fine, elegant crisp wine with true minerality and complexity.

The Vacheron family have been influential in the Sancerre since the turn of the century, producing both white and red wines using organic and biodynamic farming methods. Their white Sancerre, made with 100% Sauvignon Blanc grapes is vibrant with zesty gooseberry flavours and a long, elegant, mineral finish. They are also well known for their red Sancerre made from Pinot Noir, which are light bodied and delicately perfumed with red berry aromas.

Pascal Jolivet is a very dynamic and avant-garde producer in the Loire Valley. He started making his Grand Vins du Val de Loire in 1982, later established his own Maison in 1987. Today the vineyard covers 28 ha in Sancerre and Pouilly-Fumé. To keep up with demand for some of their entry level wines, they also purchase fruit from long-term contract growers. The range of wines is extremely extensive with two of the most exclusive ones: "Exception" - made of very ripe grapes from three top sites in Sancerre like Mont Damné and Clos du Roy, and "Sauvage" - more racy and mineral in style and shows a fine linear structure.

ALSACE

In eastern France lies a small wine region nestled between the protective Vosges Mountains and the Rhine River along the border of Germany.

The long dry summers are perfect for growing the white aromatic grape varieties Riesling, Gewürztraminer, Pinot Gris and Muscat. Wines are bottled in the slim Alsatian flutes and the grape variety are written on the label. The Rieslings are normally dry, un-oaked with very pure fruit flavours and the grape are richer often with some sweetness.

The term “Grand Cru” means the grapes have come from a superior vineyard site. You may see also here “Sélection de Grains Noble” - made from grapes affected by noble rot, always be sweet and “Vendage Tardive” - using late harvest grapes, giving a medium sweet wine. Both are excellent matches with Foie Gras.

TRIMBACH

Established in 1626 the Trimbach house is one of the eldest in the region and is currently run by the 12th generation of the family. They have full control over all aspects of wine making from planting to bottling resulting a severe quality control. In terms of style, Trimbach is famous for a more restrained and steely style than other generous and round. Or as Hubert Trimbach puts it in his own words; "Concentrated not heavy; fruity, not sweet; bracing rather than fat; polite rather than voluptuous". The most legendary of their wines is Clos Saint Hune, a small single vineyard that has been in the family for over 200 years. It is widely regarded as one of the top Rieslings of the world.

ITALY

Italy is the largest producer of wines in the world, producing five billion liters annually. They have over 1000 of their own indigenous grape varieties, making Italy a truly unique wine country with wines often named after the place they come from. In Piedmont one has the great wines of Barolo and Barbaresco made from the Nebbiolo grape. Moving east to Veneto one can find Amarone della Valpolicella, luxurious silky and full-bodied reds made with mostly Corvina. Chianti and Brunello are famous in Tuscany, made from the Sangiovese grape. There has also been a rise in “Super Tuscans”, highly demanded wines which don’t use traditional grapes but instead use the Bordeaux grape varieties Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot.

In the 17th century the Gaja family opened a tavern in Barbaresco but it was not until 1937 the first wine bearing the name Gaja appeared. Since then Angelo Gaja has been accredited with revolutionizing wine making in the region and showed the world what Barbaresco was capable of. They continue to produce some of Piedmonts finest reds along with beautiful whites, Gaja & Rey for example is arguably the best white wine in Italy.

TUSCANY - RED

LUCE

Luce della Vite is owned by Marchesi de' Frescobaldi and the progressive Mondavi family from Napa Valley. Luce was the first wine ever created in Montalcino by blending Sangiovese and Merlot grapes. The roundness and suppleness of the Merlot combines well with the structure and elegance of Sangiovese. They also produce a traditional Brunello di Montalcino wine called Luce Brunello, made with 100% Sangiovese grapes grown around the slopes of Montalcino. Wines here must be aged for five years, with at least 2 years in barrel and display typical Tuscan character.

ANGELO GAJA - PIEDMONT

Angelo Gaja made history by planting Chardonnay and Sauvignon grapes on prime Barbaresco land. Gaja & Rey was the first white wine he produced, named after Angelo's daughter Gaia and grandmother Rey. Made from 100% Chardonnay, it has been aged 8 months in barriques to give a rich nose of toast and vanilla, a full body and ripe fruit flavours. The wine Rossj-Bass is made primarily from Chardonnay with a touch of Sauvignon Blanc. Bass is Piedmontese for the Italian "basso" meaning low, a name derived from the vineyards position. He also makes an herbaceous and aromatic Sauvignon Blanc called Alteni di Brassica, a rare gem for this region.

ANTINORI - UMBRIA

The Antinori owned Castello Della Sala Estate lies in Umbria just a short distance away from Tuscany. Meticulous attention to detail is used throughout the winemaking process, temperature control is given particular focus in an effort to maintain the aromatic freshness of the grapes, these measures include a refrigerated conveyor belt for the grapes arriving at the winery! A blend of Chardonnay and Grechetto goes into the flagship wine Cervaro Della Sala which is then fermented and aged for 5 months in oak barrels. The toasty notes of the oak blend harmoniously with the notes of tropical and citrus fruit. First produced in 1997 Conte Della Vipera is a blend of Sauvignon Blanc and Semillon, a vibrant vein of acidity gives the wine excellent freshness.

LA SCOLCA - GAVI

This estate lies in the region of Gavi di Gavi in southern Piedmont. It is made of 100% Cortese which is a delicate fragrant variety offering crisp acid, aromas of white peach, blossom and citrus. The average age of the vines is 60 years which adds to the concentration and finesse of the wines of La Scolca. The Estate is today run by Giorgio Soldati (the founder's great-grandson) and his daughter, Chiara, who is representing the 5th generation. The grapes are hand harvested and the wine making is very protective in order to retain the freshness and delicacy of fruit.

PORTUGAL

Portugal is mostly famous for the fortified wine Port, but are increasingly becoming known for their dry red wines made from their indigenous grape variety Touriga Nacional. Tawny ports, named after their tawny colour, are aged in barrels for a very long time to give aromas of walnuts, coffee and caramel. Vintage ports are amongst the longest-lived wines and have more dark fruit and spice aromas. These often require decanting to remove the sediment.

SPAIN

Spain has a long wine history and is the 3rd largest producer in the world. The finest wines are produced in Rioja, Ribera del Duero and Priorat. Probably the most well-known is Rioja, producing oaky reds from the Tempranillo grape. Priorat is a new fashionable region, growing the grape Garnacha (Grenache) to create dark, alcoholic, concentrated wines and a wine from here known as L'Ermita now ranks amongst one of the best Spanish wines. Ribera del Duero uses Tempranillo and is home to the famous producers called Pingus and Vega Sicilia.

UNITED STATES

Although wine is made in all the 50 states, 90% of production is in sunny California. Here there has been a surge in boutique wineries, which now has some of the World's greatest Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Zinfandel (called Primitivo in Italy), Pinot Noir and Chardonnay. This was shown in 1976 when a very famous blind tasting of Californian wines beat the best French wines. The exercise was repeated in London in 2006, with the Californians again beating the French.

ARGENTINA

Argentina is known mostly for the smooth red grape called Malbec, grown widely in the Mendoza region but originating from Cahors in the South of France. Torrontes is Argentina's signature white grape and has lovely fragrant grapey and floral aromas. The majority of the vineyards are found on the slopes of the Andes between 600 and 1500 meters of altitude, with warm sunny days, cool nights and irrigation from the mountains. This large range in temperature, draws out an interesting range of aromas and flavours in the grapes.

CHILE

Chile is South America's largest wine exporter, growing a range of worldwide known grape varieties including Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Chardonnay and Sauvignon Blanc. The country is long and thin, placed between the Andes Mountains irrigating the vines and the cold Pacific Ocean cooling the vineyards down. Due to the near perfect growing conditions and inexpensive land, they are producing very good value wines here.

NEW ZEALAND

Only just scraping into the top 30 wine countries, New Zealand is a very small player in the world of wine. The first vines were planted in Marlborough in only 1973, however since then has impressively built up a well-respected reputation for its pungent style of Sauvignon Blanc. Due to the high levels of sunshine, these are much fruitier and tropical than its French counterparts Sancerre and Pouilly-Fumé. Being on the same latitude as Burgundy, Pinot Noir grows fantastically well here, particularly in Central Otago.

AUSTRALIA

Australia is a diverse country, containing many different climates and producing all styles of wine, with vineyards mostly located in the cooler Southern parts. Their export market has been very successful, driven mostly by competitive pricing, consistent quality and engaging branding and marketing. Shiraz (or Syrah) grows very well in Barossa Valley, creating a very fruit-forward style compared to wines of Northern Rhône. Cabernet Sauvignon grown amazingly well in Coonawarra. In terms of white wines, Chardonnay is grown widely all over in lots of different styles from oaked to un-oaked. Semillon is popular in Hunter Valley and

Clare and Eden Valley are best for Riesling.

SOUTH AFRICA

South Africa has been making wine for 350 years and is seen as the oldest of the New World wine countries. The 'Bordeaux-Blend' of Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot is popular in Stellenbosch. Pinotage is South Africa's speciality and was formed by crossing the grape Pinot Noir and Cinsaut. These wines have a full body and spicy red berry fruits that can age rather interestingly. Chenin Blanc (also known locally as Steen) is the most widely grown white grape, made in a variety of styles and with some more premium producers using barrel ageing to give extra body and toastiness.

SAKE

INTRODUCTION TO SAKE

Over the past few years we have seen an increasing trend towards drinking sake on board; so much so that we have decided to add a sake section to this year's Wine & Spirits List.

Despite often being referred to as "rice wine", sake is in fact much closer to a beer in terms of how it is produced. Japan has been at the epicentre of the world's sake production for over 3 500 years, so it stands to reason that this is where the highest quality examples come from today.

Unlike wine, sake is all about purity – not complexity. Elegance is judged by the shortness and cleanness of the finish. In terms of flavour characteristics, sake often exhibits a more savoury, umami character, with more sweetness and less acidity than most wines. Alcohol levels are generally between 15-18 %.

To make sake, each grain of rice is polished down to its starchy core, removing any impurities. The degree of polishing will determine the style of the finished product. The highest degree of polishing will produce the purest, most elegant sakes.

STYLES OF SAKE

Sake can be divided into two initial categories: Junmai and Non-Junmai. Non-Junmai sakes have distilled alcohol added to them at the end of fermentation, whereas Junmai have not had anything added (Junmai means "pure rice"). Each of these are then divided according to the degree of rice polishing as below.

JUNMAI	Junmai Daiginjo	Rice is polished down to at least 50% of its original size
	Junmai Ginjo	Polished to at least 60%
	Junmai	Polished to at least 61%
NON-JUNMAI	Daiginjo	Polished to at least 50%
	Ginjo	Polished to at least 60%
	Honjozo	Polished to between 62 and 70%

Prices are stated without tax and are correct at the time of going to print. Many wines are in stock and available for immediate delivery, however some may take a little longer to deliver (1-3 working days).

The Tesseron's also own the famous Bordeaux Châteaux Pontet Canet and Lafon Rochet. Blends are left to mature for many years in the producer's 13th century cellars. There is impressive complexity even at the lower end of the range, but the Trésor is truly exceptional and the Extreme moves into the realm of the sublime, sitting at the very top of the tree and among the world's finest Cognacs.

RUM - OUR BESTSELLERS

RON ZACAPA

Hailing from the highlands of Guatemala, Zacapa has established itself as one of the leading luxury brands in the world of rum. Lower temperatures at this higher altitude slow the ageing process, while the thinner air helps to intensify the infusion of flavours from the barrels. Zacapa Royal is the brand's flagship rum, which is triple aged in three different barrel types over a 30-year period. The result is an impressively full-bodied rum that is best served on its own.

DIPLOMÁTICO

In the foothills of the Andes mountains lies Venezuela's Diplomático distillery. Sugar cane molasses is used to produce its lighter styles while sugar cane honeys add an extra dimension of complexity to the top end of the range. Sitting at the top of the tree is Diplomático Ambassador, developing complex flavours over the course of a 14-year maturation prior to bottling.

VODKA - OUR BESTSELLERS

GREY GOOSE

A perennial favourite, Grey Goose is a premium French vodka that uses only two ingredients from field to bottle: the highest-grade wheat and pristine limestone-filtered spring water. This result is a signature smoothness, combined with a clear, fresh and elegantly aromatic taste.

BELUGA

There is a reason Beluga Noble vodka is Russia's number one selling premium vodka. Its superb quality and clean taste comes from its ingredients of malt grain and pure Siberian water. After distillation it is capped with an Italian cork and wax sealed, and a small Beluga fish is hand-fitted to each bottle. Beluga Gold Line is one of the world's most luxurious vodkas. Made only in limited editions with each bottle individually numbered, its prolonged production period results in an exquisitely balanced, smooth taste.

BELVEDERE

Considered as the world's first super-premium vodka, Belvedere is a Polish vodka crafted using 100% Dankowskie rye and local pure water. It is then distilled with the optimum four distillations to suit this grain. On the nose there is a faint note of vanilla with soft cream; the palate is full and round with a medium body, while the finish is long, with notes of clotted cream and almonds.

STOLICHNAYA

Stolichnaya may well be Russia's oldest distillery, believed to date back to the early 20th century. Producing a range of vodkas, including flavoured vodkas, the Elit is our bestselling bottle from their range and is widely regarded as one of the world's finest vodkas. As with all the best vodkas, it is extremely clean and neutral on the nose and a hint of toasted grain. The vodka is characterised by its long, soft, spicy finish.

GIN - OUR BESTSELLERS

TANQUERAY

Since 1830, Tanqueray London Dry Gin has been made according to the same classic, timeless recipe. Its iconic bottle shape is inspired by a three-part cocktail shaker made famous during Prohibition's classic cocktail movement in the "Roaring 1920s". Tanqueray's No. Ten Batch is a super-premium gin distilled in small batches with fresh citrus fruits, camomile flowers and other hand-selected botanicals.

MARE

Gin Mare evokes the Mediterranean. With its eternal blue sky, its characteristic scent of rosemary, basil, and thyme - Gin Mare is Mediterranean by nature. Made using traditional techniques from the Mediterranean, through a delicate maceration and independent distillation which expresses all of the characteristics of each botanical in every sip.

MONKEY 47

So called because of the 47 botanicals that are used, together with the fact that it is produced at a German distillery nicknamed "The Wild Monkey" in the Black Forest, Monkey 47 is another premium gin that has proved extremely popular for the past few years. Its unique and complex taste is an ideal basis for a range of cocktails.

COMTE DE GRASSE

44°N is distilled along the French Riviera and takes its inspiration from the perfumes of Grasse. Named after the town's geographic coordinates, it encapsulates the energy of Cade, Mimosa, Centifolia and Immortelle. It combines modern distilling methods with cutting edge perfume extraction technology to create a bold fusion of flavours that play with your senses.

WINE TASTING/TRAINING

There are several wine courses available that are both educative and/or entertaining.

Being in the industry for many years we are able to tailor our wine courses to the yachties and bring some knowledge /tips that are very useful for a Chief Steward(ess) position, or anyone who wishes to deepen his/her knowledge of wine.

Below are some examples of themes that could be proposed for a wine course.

INTRODUCTORY TASTING

This a good wine tasting to start with in order to cover the basics of wine tasting and to familiarise yourself with tasting techniques and vocabulary. It is conducted in a relaxed friendly fashion and the aim is to discover how different various wines can be depending on grape varieties, regions and climate. This tasting gives an understanding of some of the main grape varieties and regions of the world.

PERFECT PROVENCE

Rosé wine from Provence is a category that has enjoyed an amazing success the past 15 years. With near 90% of the production devoted pink wines, Provence is considered a world authority for the style. Yet Provence have so much more to offer. In this session we will discover some of the finest rosés made in different styles, together with some world class red and white wines from the region that deserves some serious attention.

FOOD AND WINE PAIRING

Wine is made to be had with food and although personal taste is a very good indicator of what a good match is and what is not, there are certain guidelines to follow and some truly exceptional pairings to make. This tasting allows for an understanding of these matches and will give you the ability to dazzle and amaze your guests at future dinner parties.

OLD WORLD VERSUS NEW WORLD

Until the famous "Judgement of Paris tasting" in 1976 the world thought that all top quality wines came from the Old World. This tasting event opened our eyes and we now know that excellent wines can be produced from many parts of the world. However there are many profound and exciting differences to be discovered in terms of style and taste. This tasting will give a broad overview of top quality regions from around the world by comparing New world wines with more classic regions.
