The Almada Chair is a result of hours of experimentation between the designer Gabriel Tan and the weaver Dona Lina. With a shared curiosity about the possibilities in weaving patterns, they collaborated closely to create a beautiful weave pattern as seen in the Almada Chair. Natural paper cord is woven around a sturdy, structured wood frame, creating a stable seating solution that at the same time brings texture and craft to the fore. Special on its own or in a group, the Almada Chair is available in four different wood finishes.

A second variant of the Almada Chair is also available, with the seat woven in a chequered combination of linen fabric straps and paper cord, giving the Almada Chair a different sense of materiality.
