

TANKEN

The Standing Desk

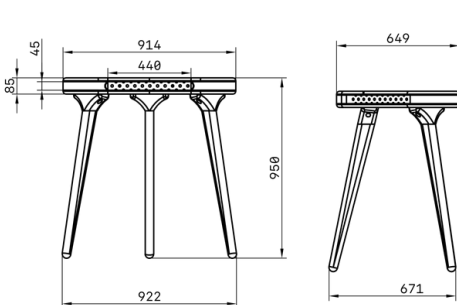

The modern executive needs a workspace that performs at the highest level and still belongs in a beautifully considered home. Most standing desks bring a clinical, corporate look that feels out of place in a living room. Most designer desks look the part but fall short of a full working day. TANKEN closes that gap. Each desk is one of a kind, crafted by a boutique Tokyo workshop that brings fine Japanese craftsmanship together with tailored ergonomics and built-in cable management. When the workday ends, it becomes an elegant writing table and a discreet charging station, so it feels like part of the home and is always ready for serious work.

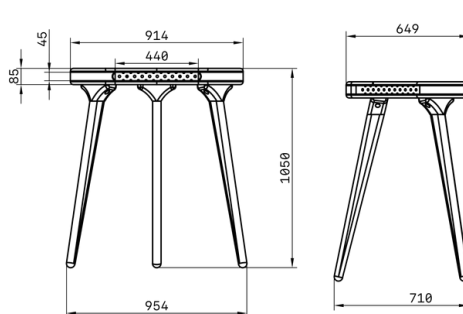

Height

Handmade to elbow height or to one of the three standard heights: Short, Medium and Tall.

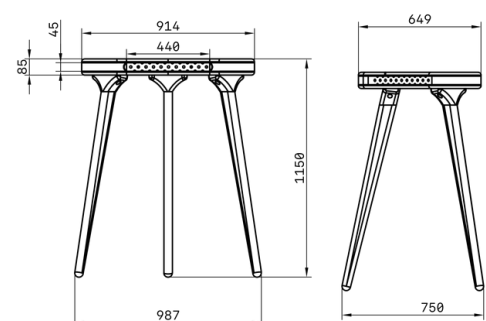

Short

Medium

Tall

All dimensions in mm.

Wood

American Walnut, Cherry, Douglas Fir, Tamo (Japanese Ash), Kuri (Japanese Chestnut), Yamazakura (Japanese Cherry), Sugi (Japanese Cedar), Yakisugi (Charred Japanese Cedar), Kiso Hinoki (Japanese Cypress)

Finished in natural beeswax keeping the wood true to its color and leaving every detail of the craftsmanship in plain view.

Leather

All leather comes from Kawazen, a Nagoya leather house founded in 1930 that buys raw hides directly and finishes them in its own facility in Japan, keeping the full grain so each hide ages with character. The collection has nine leathers in 83 colors, from 1.2 to 3.0mm thick. Textures range from smooth and pebbled grains to waxed vintage, soft nubuck and natural vegetable-tanned hides.
