

PathoFinder is looking for an Logistics Officer (In Vitro Diagnostics)

Ready to be the engine behind smooth logistics and standout service?

PathoFinder is looking for a proactive and detail-oriented Logistics Officer to join our team in the highly regulated In Vitro Diagnostics (IVD) industry. This role is pivotal in ensuring seamless logistics operations and delivering exceptional customer service, all while maintaining strict compliance with legal, safety, and quality standards. The position includes hands-on responsibility for preparing and shipping products.

Company profile

PathoFinder, founded in 2004, is a molecular diagnostics scale-up company based in Maastricht. The company develops and commercializes innovative molecular diagnostic tests for comprehensive detection of a wide variety of infectious disease pathogens, including SARS-CoV-2. PathoFinder's proprietary 2SmartFinder® technology enables the detection and differentiation of up to 24 viral, bacterial, fungal and parasitic pathogens in a single assay.

PathoNostics is our fungal diagnostics brand for the development and manufacturing of real-time PCR assays. Our aim is to rapidly detect disease-causing fungus and simultaneously identify antifungal resistance, allowing clinicians to initiate a dedicated and timely therapy and save on costs and lives.

All our products comply with CE-IVD guidelines.
