

Kushner Advisory News

HAPPY SEPTEMBER!

Welcome back! I hope you all had a wonderful summer! I, personally, spent a lot of time with my now-9-month-old niece and creating decor for my wedding in November!

This year, we will be highlighting one of our Character Traits (or District Philosophies) and a connected trait from the IB Learner Profile. You can read about both of those below! Important dates and reminders will be on the next page!

INTERNAL MOTIVATION

Ever wonder what makes some people work so hard on their own, without a teacher or a parent telling them to? That's internal motivation, and it's one of the most powerful tools you can develop.

This year, try to tap into it. Pick a class you're curious about, dive deep into a hobby, or challenge yourself with a topic that genuinely excites you. You might just find that your best work comes from the inside out.

MONTHLY THEME

- Internal Motivation
- Be an "Inquiring" Student!

AN "INQUIRING" STUDENT ...

- is a detective of knowledge, always asking "why?" and "how?" to uncover deeper truths.
- sees every question not as a sign of confusion, but as an opportunity for discovery.
- isn't afraid to challenge assumptions and explore new perspectives.
- understands that the most valuable answers often lead to even more interesting questions.
