

Dear Figot Advisory Families,

We've had a wonderful first month of school together in advisory! Last week we played Would You Rather and got into some spirited debates, including whether or not hair made of spaghetti or fingers made of breadsticks would be preferable. Important deciding factors included whether or not you could eat your hair/fingers and if they would then grow back. Most of us ended up picking spaghetti hair, with the caveat that we could dip it in our favorite pasta sauce and nibble on it as a snack.

We also had our first party of the year. We dined on a smorgasbord of cereal, with lot of Lucky Charms, Krave, and Cap'n Crunch with Berries. IYLCA to all!

This month, juniors are preparing to take the PSAT, the final practice exam before they take the official SAT in the Spring. For students aiming to receive high test scores, these practice tests are a vital part of the process.

Seniors are hard at work on their Extended Essays. By now, all students should have their research question, preliminary research, and working thesis. They also should have met with their supervisor for support and guidance.

-Ms. Figot

COMPREHENSIVE STUDENT REVIEWS

Within the next week or so,

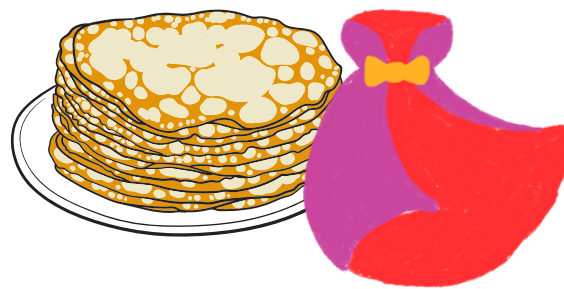

I will be sending out the sign up for our Fall CSRs.

For our upperclassmen, I strongly encourage students to attend alongside their families. This fall, our conversations will focus on how the year has started, setting goals for the year to come, and looking ahead to post high school plans.

ADVISORY HALLOWEEN PARTY

On Friday October 31, we will have our Figot Advisory Halloween Party! We've decided to go for a Crepes & Capes theme for this event. We will be making our own capes in advisory. For our food selection, we are looking for premade crepes along with fillings/toppings for the crepes. If you are able and willing to contribute, you can use the following sheet to sign up:
