Caring

This month, we are focusing on Caring.

In school, caring students:

Help classmates when they are struggling
Listen respectfully to different opinions
Include others and work patiently with each other
Speak and act with kindness
Stand up for others when something isn't fair

Caring doesn't stop at school. It also means:

Helping your community
Taking care of the environment
Being thoughtful in everyday choices

Mr Minner's Message

Every day, every week, every month, every year, we all have invisible struggles that make life more difficult. It's easy to think that I personally have more troubles or heartaches than others – after all, I know my own problems!

Never forget that we are all real human beings, and no one has it easy. Though you may not be able to see another person's struggles (and they may even seem fine, on the surface), always remember that everyone has pain and struggles that we know nothing about.

There's every reason in the world to treat your fellow humans with a little more patience and kindness each day, where you can.

ZOTE THE MIGHTY

A black and white line drawing of a large, multi-legged spider-like creature, possibly a centipede or millipede, with a segmented body and many legs. A small, simple boat is drawn on its back, with a single oar extending from the side. The drawing is done in a sketchy, hand-drawn style.
