

THE VAN NESS VOICE

February 2026

CSA EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

- Math: The instructional learning targets of the CSA middle school math curriculum focus on developing students' proficiency in key mathematical areas such as ratios, geometry, algebraic expressions, and statistics, while fostering critical thinking, problem-solving, and real-world application skills. The curriculum is designed to prepare students for high school math and beyond by encouraging a deep understanding of mathematical concepts. This month, students will be exploring concepts of algebraic equations (Foundations Math), ratios and rates (Applied Math); graphing and writing and graphing linear equations (Intro to Integrated Math and Integrated I Math); and graphing quadratic functions (Integrated II Math).
- Science: (Pods B & C): In our next unit, "Phase Change," students will investigate the mystery of the methane lake on Titan. The apparent disappearance of the lake serves as the anchor phenomenon for the unit, and the students' assignment is to determine what happened to the lake. Motivated to understand phase change more deeply, students gather evidence from the Phase Change Simulation, from several articles, and from physical investigations of phase change. They learn that the molecules of a substance move differently when that substance is in different phases. They also learn how the kinetic energy of molecules and the attraction between the molecules affects the way in which the molecules move. Students use this newfound understanding of molecules, kinetic energy, and attraction, as well as evidence about the conditions on Titan, to explain what they think happened to Titan's mysterious lake.
- Literature (Pods B&C): This month, students are putting the finishing touches on their Greek Mythology scrapbook projects, making meaningful connections between the myths, their morals and themes, and their influence on modern literature. After completing the project, we'll begin our second read-aloud of the year, The Outsiders. As we journey through the novel, students will explore Robert Frost's poem "Nothing Gold Can Stay," analyze its connection to the text, and then replicate the poem by adopting Frost's tone while adding their own creative spin. Throughout the beginning of the novel, students will dive deeply into the characters, themes, and moments that shape the story.
- Social Studies: In February, students will get a chance to dive into Ancient Hebrews, the Origins of Judaism and finally, the much awaited Ancient Greece! Students have been very excited for this unit and we are excited to finally get to dig deeper into it with them. Students will use these historical examples to continue their studies on how civilizations rose to power, lost power, and fell. We will look further into factors that helped civilizations develop, the technologies they used, the geography of the areas, and the reasons these great civilizations eventually met their downfall. By the end, students will be able to make connections to previous civilizations, demonstrate their understanding of the differences between these civilizations and emphasize the lasting marks they left on the world.

BELUGA BALL BASKET

To prepare for our annual Beluga Ball Basket for auction, our Advisory has been diligently working to collect items to create a WORLD CUISINE COOKING basket. We are asking for families to take a look at our Amazon Wishlist and consider purchasing an item, or sending in cash donations. Every little bit truly makes a difference! All proceeds from the Beluga Ball go directly towards student enrichment! In years past, these funds have been used to purchase sports and recreational equipment for physical education and recreation, library books, student technology, and so much more! Thank you for your generosity, and for supporting our district's learners!
