My work philosophy

Question everything. I always want to have an answer as to why a certain decision was made. If there isn't a legitimate answer, then the decision should be re-evaluated.

I like to provide more than one option when asked for a solution. This includes clients in the process, so they can make informed decisions on the direction of a project.

Two heads are better than one! I like to collaborate with and work around creatives. Bouncing ideas with others allows the project to be seen through several different perspectives
