Interview Response Overview

This appendix contains summarized interview responses collected from 12 undergraduate students enrolled in introductory psychology courses during the Fall 2024 semester. The interviews focused on study habits, exam preparation strategies, and perceived academic stress levels (see Appendix A).

All interviews were conducted individually and recorded with participant consent. Responses were transcribed verbatim and coded using thematic analysis. Footnotes are included where clarification of terminology or methodology is required.¹

The appendix follows the order in which interview data are discussed in the main body of the paper and is placed after the reference list. Page numbers appear in the upper right corner of this appendix.

¹ Interview prompts are available upon request.
