The Neighborhood

Howe-Hiawatha

The Howe neighborhood, part of the vibrant Longfellow community and adjacent to Hiawatha, is a welcoming, tree-lined enclave along the Mississippi River that blends historic charm with modern connectivity. Nearly 7,000 residents—many of them professionals and families—are drawn to its mix of classic Craftsman-style homes, abundant green space, and strong sense of community. Known for its walkability and access to landmarks like the Mississippi River Gorge, the Min Hi Line, and the historic Riverview Theater, Howe also benefits from seamless commuting via the Blue Line Light Rail, Midtown Greenway, and Highway 55. Beloved destinations like Moon Palace Books, Minnehaha Scoop, Bluedoor Pub, and nearby breweries and restaurants along Minnehaha Avenue add to the neighborhood's lively character. With its creative spirit, local amenities, and excellent accessibility, Howe stands out as both a desirable residential setting and a dynamic hub for small businesses and neighborhood-serving services.
