Snacktime is a fun way to see how numbers add up together! Put cereal or slices of fruit on two plates. Count how many on each plate. Add up the total, then swap plates and add them again!

When you're outside, collect five fallen leaves and put them into a pile of three and a pile of two. Then, throw the leaves in the air, when they land count them again! How many leaves do you have?

Find five toys and line them up. Count along the line and ask your grown-up to choose when to say "stop". Move the toys apart, then count how many are on each side. Add the two numbers together. How many toys are there in total?
