ABOUT

John Eger is a member of the Management Advisory Services team. As an experienced advisor, he provides tax planning strategies and helps clients navigate unique financial circumstances.

John spends most of his time helping clients plan their financial goals; develop and implement streamline processes to help them run more efficiently; and develop strategies to save money, both in long- and short-term. He knows that clients come to HHM CPAs seeking financial advisement and guidance, and he prides himself on providing impeccable service so clients can focus their attention on other areas of their business.

Prior to joining HHM CPAs, John was the Accounting and Human Resources Manager with a local startup. He enjoys being challenged, working through tough challenges with clients, and being exposed to a broad variety of different issues within the realm of accounting.

Born and raised in High Point, North Carolina, John came to Chattanooga to play soccer at Covenant College. He fell in love with the area and stayed after graduating. He considers Chattanooga his forever home.

During his spare time, you'll find him playing soccer, spending time in the great outdoors, and traveling to new places.
