HISTORIC CAROLINA TRUST BUILDING

Originally constructed in 1902 for Carolina Trust Bank who operated on the ground level until the early 1920s. In 1928, McLellen's Dime Store bought the building and built a two story addition with frontage on Salisbury Street. McLellen's, which merged and took on the name of another five and dime store (McCrory's) in the 1960s, operated in the building until the 1990s.

Empire Properties purchased the vacant building in 2006 and executed a historic tax credit rehabilitation in 2009. The upper floors of the building had been sealed off from active occupants many decades, providing Empire with a Classical Revival time capsule; high ceilings, hardwood floors, original millwork, rich Classical Revival details, large windows with ample natural light, and a grand staircase between the third and fourth floors all give glimpses into the building's historic past. Empire was careful to make sure that historic character was preserved, while also bringing new life through the addition of modern building systems as well as the construction of a glass fifth floor addition, creating a compelling visual juxtaposition between historic and modern.

The plan focuses on cultivating community, connectedness, and catalyzing downtown’s growth as a cultural and business destination.

Key aspects of the plan include:

NEARBY PARKING

Hybrid Options: Account holders can order more parking passes than they are paying for if they do not expect the entire team to be in at the same time. For example, if a company has ten employees, but only expects five people to come per day, they can distribute ten parking passes but only pay for five monthly parking permits. If a sixth parker enters the deck, the account is charged the daily rate for the additional parker.

Our historic preservation, redevelopment, and real estate development efforts and hospitality services continue to have a strong, positive impact on downtown Raleigh and its buildings.
