Volunteers:

In relation to the personal information of volunteers who assist Mercy Education and its schools in their functions or associated activities, Mercy Education's primary purpose of collection is to assess and potentially engage the volunteer.

The purpose for which Mercy Education or a school may use the personal information of volunteers includes:

- assessing a volunteer's suitability for engagement by Mercy Education or its schools as a volunteer
- for insurance purposes
- satisfy the legal obligations of Mercy Education and the school (e.g. providing a safe workplace, child safety and wellbeing and its duty of care to students)
- to confirm their suitability and to manage their visits
- for marketing activities

Counsellors:

The school contracts with external providers to provide counselling and/or psychology services for some students. The principal may require the counsellor and/or psychologist to inform them or other teachers of any issues the principal and the counsellor and/or psychologist believe may be necessary for the school to know for the wellbeing or development of the student who is counselled or other students at the school.

Parish:

The school will not disclose any personal information to the school parish to facilitate religious and sacramental programs, or other activities such as fundraising, without consent.

Marketing and fundraising:

Mercy Education treats marketing and seeking donations for the future growth and development of its schools as an important part of ensuring that its schools continue to provide quality learning environments in which both students and staff thrive. Personal information held by schools may be disclosed to organisations that assist in school fundraising, for example, a school's foundation or alumni organisation, or on occasion, external fundraising organisations.

Parents/guardians/carers, staff, contractors, and other members of the wider school community may from time to time receive fundraising information. School publications, like newsletters and magazines, which include personal information and images may, be used for marketing purposes.

09 Who might Mercy Education or a school disclose personal information to?

Nationally Consistent Collection of Data on School Students with Disability

Mercy Education is required by the Australian Education Regulation 2013 (Cth) and Australian Education Act 2013 (Cth) to collect and disclose certain information to inform the Students with a Disability (SwD) loading via the NCCD. Mercy Education schools provide the required information at an individual level to an approved authority. Approved authorities must comply with reporting, record-keeping, and data quality assurance obligations under the NCCD. Student information provided to the federal government for the purpose of the NCCD does not explicitly identify any student.

Sending and storing information overseas:

Mercy Education may disclose personal information to an overseas recipient if it is directly relevant to an overseas trip or excursion being undertaken by students and then only with the consent of the parent/guardian/carer (in which consent may be implied). It is not practicable to specify in this policy the countries in which the recipients of such information are likely to be located.

Mercy Education and its schools will not send personal information about an individual outside Australia without:

- your consent (in some cases this consent will be implied)
- otherwise complying with the Australian Privacy Principles or other applicable privacy legislation.

Mercy Education and its schools may from time to time use the services of third-party online service providers, including the delivery of services and third-party online applications, or Apps relating to email, instant messaging and education and assessment, eg. Google Suite and Gmail) which may be accessible by the parent/guardian/carer. These online service providers may be located in or outside Australia.

Mercy Education, school personnel and the school's service provider have the ability to access, monitor, use or disclose emails, communications (e.g., instant messaging), documents and associated data for the purposes of administering the system and ensuring its proper use.

Staff and security of any personal information that may be collected, processed and stored outside Australia, in connection with any cloud and third-party services and will endeavour to ensure the cloud will be located in countries which have substantially similar protections as the Australian Privacy Principles.

Where personal and sensitive information is retained by a cloud service provider on behalf of the school to facilitate human resources and staff administrative support, this information may be stored on servers located in or outside of Australia.

Otherwise, it is not practicable to specify in this policy the countries in which overseas recipients of personal information are likely to be located.

10 How does Mercy Education or a school treat sensitive information?

Sensitive information will only be used and disclosed by Mercy Education and its schools for the purpose for which it was provided or directly related secondary purpose, unless authorised by law or with consent by a parent/guardian/carer

11 Failure to provide personal information to Mercy Education and its schools:

The primary consequences for an individual if some or all of the personal information required by Mercy Education and its schools is not provided, or cannot be collected, include:

Mercy Education and its schools may not be able to fully assess an application for enrolment or continue a student enrolment, it may not be able to provide educational services to a student including the student's wellbeing, or properly discharge its duty of care to the student i, Mercy Education and its schools may not be able to fully assess the person's suitability for employment or engagement by Mercy Education and its schools.

12 Management and security of personal information

Mercy Education and school staff are required to respect the confidentiality of the personal information collected and to respect the privacy of individuals.

Mercy Education and its schools have various methods in place to protect the personal information collected from, unauthorised access, modification or disclosure. These include, but are not limited to, locked storage of paper records, access protocols, and password protected digital records, high level security measures and encryption.

Mercy Education and its schools will respond to any incidents which may affect the security of the personal information it holds. If Mercy Education and its schools will assess any data breach for the likelihood of serious harm to an individual and will notify the individual and the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner accordingly.

If you believe any of your personal information has been compromised by Mercy Education and its schools, please contact Mercy Education or the relevant school know immediately.

13 Access and correction of personal information

Under the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth), Health Records Act 2001 (Vic), and the Health Services Act 2016 (WA), an individual has the right to access the personal information which Mercy Education or a school holds about them and to advise the school of any perceived inaccuracy. There are exceptions to this access right in the applicable legislation. Students will generally be able to access and update their personal information through their parents/guardians/carers, but older students may seek access and correction of the record themselves.

To make a request to access or update any personal information Mercy Education holds please contact the relevant school principal or the school administrator by telephone or in writing.

Mercy Education or its schools may require you to verify your identity and be specific about the information you are seeking. Mercy Education or its schools may charge a fee to cover the cost of verifying your application and locating, retrieving, reviewing and copying any material requested. If the information sought is extensive, Mercy Education and its schools will advise the likely cost in advance. If Mercy Education or the School cannot provide you with access to requested information, you will be provided with a written explanation of the reasons for refusal.

14 Consent and rights of access to the personal information of students

Mercy Education and its schools respect every parent/guardian/carer's right to make decisions concerning their child's education.

Generally, Mercy Education and its schools will refer all requests for consent and notices in relation to the personal information of a student, to the student's parents/guardians/carers. Mercy Education and its schools will treat consent given by parents/guardians/carers as consent given on behalf of the student and notice to parents/guardians/carers will act as notice given to the student.

While parents/guardians/carers may seek access to personal information held by Mercy Education or its schools by contacting the School Principal by telephone or in writing., there may be occasions when access is denied. Such occasions would include where release of the information would have an unreasonable impact on the privacy of others, or where the release may result in a breach of Mercy Educations or its school's duty of care.

Mercy Education and its schools may, at their discretion, on the request of a student, grant access to information held by Mercy Education or its schools or allow a student to give or withhold consent to the use of their personal information, independently of their parents/guardians/carers. Normally, this would only be done when the maturity of the student and/or the student's personal circumstances necessitate it.

What happens when we no longer need your information?

Mercy Education and its schools will keep your personal information for as long as needed for its purposes, or to comply with relevant laws requiring some information to be retained for certain periods of time. When we no longer require your information, it will be destroyed or de-identified.

However, Mercy Education and its schools will retain selected records as part of its archives for historic purposes.

Exception in relation to employee records

Under the Australian Privacy Act 1988 (Cth), the Australian Privacy Principles do not apply to an employee record. As a result, this Privacy Policy does not apply to Mercy Education's treatment of employee records unless required by law or organisation policy where the treatment is directly related to a current or former employment relationship between Mercy Education and the employee. Mercy Education handles staff health records in Victorian schools in accordance with the Health Privacy Principles in the Health Records Act 2001 (Vic.)

15 Enquiries and complaints

If you wish to make an enquiry or lodge a complaint regarding an alleged breach of the Australian Privacy Principles please contact the School Principal or the Company Secretary in the first instance.

Mercy Education or the School will acknowledge and investigate any complaint and will notify you of the outcome as soon as is practicable. If you are not satisfied with the outcome, you may refer your complaint to the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC).
