

ADA Tax Benefits for Web Accessibility

Did you know that the IRS provides tax incentives to assist businesses with complying with the American Disabilities Act (ADA)?

What Can You Claim?

You can use the tax benefit to help offset the costs of making your website more accessible to people with disabilities. This can include (but is not limited to):

- ◆ Adding alt-text
- ◆ Formatting page structure and hierarchy
- ◆ Fixing inaccessible files and media
- ◆ Making your website keyboard navigable

Websites must comply with the requirements laid out in the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) to be ADA-Compliant.

Section 190 of the IRS Code: Tax Deduction for All Businesses

- ◆ The tax deduction is available to all businesses with a maximum deduction of $15,000 per year.

Section 44 of the IRS Code: Tax Credit for Small Businesses

- ◆ You may be eligible if your total revenues were $1,000,000 or less in the previous tax year OR if you had 30 or fewer full-time employees.
- ◆ This credit can cover 50% of the eligible accessibility expenditures in a year after $250 up to $10,250 (for a maximum credit of $5000).
- ◆ To apply for this credit, you must fill Form 8826, Disabled Access Credit.

If you are a legal services organization, A2J Tech can help you make your website more accessible!

A2J TECH

The information provided here does not constitute professional tax or legal advice. Please consult with a professional tax expert to help you claim tax benefits.