

Working Group Meetings 2026

EOG working groups are designed as regular check-in points for peer exchange on key areas of work, with content shaped by member needs rather than fixed agendas. While meeting dates are set in advance, the focus of each session will be determined based on input from registered participants.

Around 8–10 weeks before each meeting, members who have signed up will be invited to propose topics, questions or challenges for discussion. These submissions will form the agenda for the session. Depending on the topics and requests from members, we may invite external speakers or support, or develop the sessions as necessary to meet the demands of the particular issues. Where a topic requires more depth, additional deep-dive sessions or follow-up meetings may be organised between the main working group dates.

Working groups will take place only where there is sufficient member interest and input, helping ensure discussions remain relevant, practical and genuinely member-led.

Members are required to register individually for each working group session they wish to attend.
