ASTRONAUT TO EARTH: 'LOVE GOD AND YOUR NEIGHBOUR'

By Gina Christian, OSV News

As the astronauts of NASA's first crewed lunar flyby in half a century reached their closest approach to the moon, the team's pilot reminded the Earth of Jesus Christ's command to love both God and neighbour. "As we get close to the nearest point to the moon and farthest point from Earth, as we continue to unlock the mysteries of the cosmos, I would like to remind you of one of the most important mysteries there on Earth, and that's love," said astronaut Victor Glover, pilot of the Artemis II mission, speaking to ground control from aboard NASA's Orion spacecraft Integrity. "Christ said, in response to what was the greatest command, that it was to love God with all you are," said Glover. "And he also, being a great teacher, said the second is equal to it. And that is to love your neighbour as yourself." Glover — a Christian who has spoken publicly about his faith, citing Psalm 30 during his previous mission to the International Space Station — shared that message minutes before the Integrity faced an anticipated 40-minute communication lapse with ground control, as the spacecraft passed behind the moon, with radio and laser signals consequently blocked. The craft launched on 1 April from the Kennedy Space Centre in Florida for a 10-day journey that took the crew around the moon, spanning 695,081 miles from launch to splashdown off the coast of San Diego. Artemis II travelled a record-breaking maximum distance of 252,760 miles from the Earth, or more than 4,100 miles further than the 1970 Apollo 13 mission. Joining Glover in space are commander Reid Wiseman and two mission specialists — Christina Koch and Canadian astronaut Jeremy Hansen, who is the first from that nation to undertake a lunar mission. Artemis II's priorities focus on preparing for deep space exploration by humans and laying the groundwork for what NASA calls "a sustained presence on the Moon." With the flight taking place amid widespread geopolitical conflicts and tensions Glover's most recent words echoed earlier comments on how the lunar mission is also reaffirming human dignity, as well as the need for both unity and gratitude amid entrenched strife. Glover, speaking from the spacecraft earlier, said "as we go into Easter Sunday, thinking about all the cultures all around the world, whether you celebrate it or not, whether you believe in God or not, this is an opportunity for us to remember where we are, who we are, and that we are the same thing, and that we've got to get through this together." "When I read the Bible and I look at all of the amazing things that were done for us who were created — you have this amazing place, this spaceship," he said. "You guys are talking to us because we're in a spaceship really far from Earth, but you're on a spaceship called Earth that was created to give us a place to live in the universe." He added, "Maybe the distance we are from you makes you think what we're doing is special, but we're the same distance from you. And I'm trying to tell you — just trust me — you are special." Glover — the first Black astronaut to travel around the moon — pointed to "all of this emptiness" and "whole bunch of nothing" that "we call the universe," describing Earth as "this oasis, this beautiful place" where "we get to exist together." Speaking to BBC News ahead of the mission, Glover said, "When we're behind the moon, out of contact with everybody, let's take that as an opportunity. Let's pray, hope, send your good thoughts and feelings that we get back in contact with the crew." Moments before the 6 April period of loss of signal — which ended as scheduled, with the crew safely emerging on a homeward bound trajectory — Glover said, "As we prepare to go out of radio communication, we're still able to feel your true love from Earth. And to all of you down there on Earth and around Earth, we love you from the moon." "Houston copies," replied ground control. "We'll see you on the other side."

THANK YOU TO ALL WHO ASSISTED WITH EASTER LITURGIES

A very big thank you to every one who contributed to the success of our Parish Holy Week liturgies by answering the call to volunteer. Over 150 roles were filled over the Easter weekend, including readers, Ministers of Communion, collectors, those who carried the oils, those who lit the Easter fire, altar servers, musicians, those who attended the Altar of Repose, the 'chosen' twelve who had a foot washed on Holy Thursday, the Sacristans and those who distributed the easter eggs and organised the egg hunt after Mass. Attendance at our liturgies was impressive, no more so than the 9am Mass on Easter Sunday. Thank you also to Monsignor Kevin who lead us so prayerfully through these liturgies.

PROJECT COMPASSION

Caritas Australia sincerely thanks you for your generous support of Project Compassion this Lent. If you still have your Project Compassion box or donation envelope at home, please return it at Mass or to the Parish office. Every contribution, no matter the size, helps to bring hope and opportunity to people experiencing poverty and injustice. Together, we are Uniting Against Poverty and walking alongside vulnerable communities as they build stronger, more sustainable futures. You can still support Project Compassion by calling 1800 024 413, or at projectcompassion.org.au/donate.

ST MARY'S CATHEDRAL TOUR GUIDES INFORMATION EVENT

10.30am Thursday 23 April 2026

St Mary's Cathedral is seeking additional volunteers to join the enthusiastic group already conducting tours of the Cathedral for schools, organisations and the general public. To learn more about this voluntary ministry you are invited to join a short tour followed by a light morning tea in the Cathedral's Parish Centre. This event is for those individuals who are available during the week and would like to find out more about what is involved. You will be able to ask questions, meet the other guides and perhaps decide to join us. Your commitment would only be determined by your availability. All necessary training and resources are provided. To register your attendance, or for more information, please call Carol Young (Tour Guide Co Ordinator) on 0417 097 455 Email: caroly7@bigpond.com
