Founder's Story

Wisetack CEO Bobby Tzekin entered the fintech industry over 20 years ago and has deep experience with fast-growing, innovative financial technology businesses. He has built successful global products and led teams at both early stage and public companies, including Lending Club and PayPal.

Through his experience Bobby realized there was a white space in the BNPL market, which traditionally served only ecommerce. He saw an opportunity to introduce flexible, pay-over-time lending solutions for merchants offering in-person services across a variety of industries; to make inroads into a multi-billion dollar industry with a legacy payment model that has traditionally relied on cash payment and high-interest credit cards. Wisetack was founded in 2018 by Bobby Tzekin, Kolya Klymenko, and Liz O'Donnell.
