

Contra Costa County Resilient Shoreline Plan

Work together to shape our future shoreline.

About this Plan

Contra Costa County is developing a Resilient Shoreline Plan that will address rising sea levels and protect communities, critical infrastructure, and natural habitats along Contra Costa's 90-mile shoreline.

Resilient Shoreline Community Advisory Cohorts

We are recruiting participants for the Resilient Shoreline Community Advisory Cohorts to help guide the process and ensure the Resilient Shoreline Plan is grounded in community need. Cohorts will be comprised of mostly community members, with a few shoreline professionals and will be based off of participants' local geography. Cohort members will be expected to attend 4 meetings in total, combining virtual and in-person sessions, at key points in the Plan development process.

Apply to join a Resilient Shoreline Community Advisory Cohort!

- Share your local knowledge and lived experience.
- Learn about shoreline challenges and adaptation strategies.
- Collaborate with community members, local leaders, and technical experts.
- A $400 stipend will be provided after attending all 4 meetings.
