Welcome to our Devoted discovery notes...

Following His resurrection, Jesus formed a new kind of community through the power of the Holy Spirit. The believers in Acts were more than attendees, they were devoted disciples who prayed together, worshipped together, served one another, and boldly shared the good news of Jesus.

This series is about helping us move from simply attending King's Church to truly belonging. As we journey through the opening chapters of Acts, we'll discover the rhythms that shaped the early church and consider how they can shape us today through Sunday worship, Huddles, serving, prayer and generosity.

In these Bible Discovery Notes we will explore key moments from Acts 1–4 that reveal what it means to be a healthy, Spirit-filled church. Each week asks a question that helps us reflect on the kind of people and the kind of church God is calling us to become.

The aim is not simply to admire the early church, but to allow their example to transform us. To ask where is God inviting us to deeper commitment? How are we contributing to the life of the church? What would it look like to become more devoted to Jesus, his people and his mission?
