ABOUT THE COMMISSION ON ACCREDITATION OF ALLIED HEALTH EDUCATION PROGRAMS

The Commission on Accreditation of Allied Health Education Programs (CAAHEP) is the largest postsecondary accrediting organization for allied health programs in the United States. CAAHEP is recognized by the Council for Higher Education Accreditation for its commitment to quality education. Since 1994, CAAHEP has partnered with specialized review Committees on Accreditation to review thousands of health profession programs and uphold standards of educational quality through rigorous accreditation processes.

Currently, CAAHEP accredits more than 2,700 programs across 31 health professions. As part of the accreditation process, programs are required to demonstrate their capacity to provide the resources that support students' education—such as state-of-the-art equipment, educational materials, and learning environments.

Attending the 2026 CAAHEP Accreditation Workshop offers vendors a unique opportunity. Program directors and educators greatly value these events, recognizing the importance of direct contact with suppliers who can provide the equipment and materials essential for learning. In addition, visit with the leadership of the Committees on Accreditation (CoAs) during their pre-workshop event. The CoA Day Event allows CoA staff and volunteer leaders a focused day on the inner workings of programmatic accreditation. By participating in the 2026 event, exhibitors can showcase their products and services to a targeted audience of decision-makers responsible for the educational success of future health professionals.

Engaging in meaningful conversations and networking with CAAHEP stakeholders can lead to long-lasting partnerships, making the Accreditation Workshop an essential event for those looking to make an impact in the allied health education landscape.

Join us in 2026 to be at the forefront of driving quality education forward in the allied health sector!
