Cayman Islands

I looked at a lot of schools before I came here. Trinity, Lakefield, St. Andrews. But after looking at all those schools, it felt like I'd be going to a big public school. This felt I was going to a small community. It's like, would you rather move to a city or a town? And I chose a town. … in like the first five minutes after touring the school, I'd already met thirty people who introduced themselves to me. … I didn't get that [feeling] at my old school in, like, ten or thirteen years. And I thought I was stuck between the first schools that I saw, but then, I come here, and I was already set before even leaving the parking lot. I thought it would be a long decision, but it took 15 minutes. I knew this is exactly where I wanted to be.

You know, I've been around this area for a long time. This whole environment is the one I've always wanted to live in. Seasons, the lake and the nature around us, and I thought that was pretty cool, and that's not something I'd get in other schools, or where I was. That's what I wanted, and I'm happy with that decision.
