

New Road Surgery - Accurx Scribe the best tool for the job

For Dr Kunal Patel, a GP at a training practice, technology isn't just about efficiency - it's about setting a higher standard for care. Having explored and used various AI tools, he chose Accurx Scribe for a single reason: it's simply the best tool for the job.

Accurx is a one-shop stop and this is a seamless extension.

Dr Kunal Patel

Dr Patel praises Accurx Scribe for its unmatched accuracy and intuitive design. He uses Scribe for every consultation in a typical 15-patient session and finds he only needs to make changes to less than 5% of the notes. This exceptional accuracy means the notes are of a "better" and more professional quality than his own notes and other Scribe on the market.

Dr Patel finds the accuracy of Accurx Scribe's dictate remarkable with his medical secretaries commenting on how much more accurate his notes are.

The future of primary care

For Dr Patel, Scribe isn't just an efficiency tool; it's a critical component of a unified system that sets a new standard for excellence in primary care. The ability to use the tool for everything from drafting text messages and referral letters to using it for home visits on the Accurx app demonstrates its versatility and reach.

“

In a session with 15 consultations, I'll only need to make edits to 5% of the notes, it's the most accurate Scribe I've used.

Dr Kunal Patel

He believes that Scribe's seamless integration with the clinical system and its high level of accuracy will be a game-changer for the entire NHS. He argues that this kind of innovation is what will create capacity and support the entire healthcare system.
