

Growing Together: A Community Garden Project

Phase One is Completed!

On the 16th of September, members of Seetec alongside Cheeverstown staff and regular volunteers came together as a team to begin work on an exciting garden renovation project at a new Cheeverstown property in the Firhouse area.

The team spent multiple hours working to clear weeds and overgrowth from around the property to help prepare the garden for its transformation into a pleasant outdoor space. The day was an excellent example of what can be achieved through collaboration and hard work. Everyone got involved, contributing their time and energy to create a space that will benefit the individuals supported at the property and call it home.

As well as that, this project truly emphasised the importance of community and creating spaces where people can feel comfortable and have a sense of belonging. It was wonderful to see colleagues and volunteers from different areas come together to make a positive difference.

However, this garden restoration is only the beginning, and we are already excited to see how the garden develops and what the area becomes in the future. The true goal is to create a beautiful, welcoming environment where people can spend time and connect with others, but most importantly, feel at home!
