

ALL THINGS AIDEY

Some people leave a lifetime of memories in just a few short years, and that was certainly true of Aiden. At just 10 years old, he lived life with endless curiosity, fearless adventure, and a heart full of love for his family, friends, and every creature he met.

If there was dirt to ride on, Aiden wanted to be there. Whether he was racing his dirt bike across his family's land, exploring the state land, or spending countless hours at 3 Poles Recreation Area, he felt most at home outdoors. His love for adventure also included upgrading from his first go-kart, riding the four-wheeler with his faithful dog, Harper, camping, hunting, fishing, trap shooting, swimming, water balloon battles, exploring new parks, and traveling whenever he had the chance. He even loved flying in airplanes, always eager to see the world from a new perspective.

He had a gentle heart that matched his adventurous spirit. He couldn't bear to see an animal in danger and once proudly rescued a baby bird from a snake. Whether caring for animals or making everyone around him laugh with one of his many jokes, his kindness and natural sense of humor left a lasting impression on everyone who knew him.

Aiden loved learning by doing. He was fascinated by how things worked, often taking things apart just to understand them—putting them back together was sometimes a little more challenging. His imagination came alive through LEGO creations, where he enjoyed building the original designs or inventing masterpieces entirely his own. His collection of Nerf guns and countless foam darts filled the house with fun, and his family knows they'll be finding those little darts for years to come.

When he wasn't outside, he loved playing Nintendo, earning a little extra screen time, or curling up beside his mom for movie nights. Top Gun was his favorite, fitting for a boy who dreamed of one day serving in the military. He eagerly read every military book he could find at the library and proudly filled his homework with drawings of soldiers, vehicles, and aircraft.

More than anything, Aiden loved being surrounded by the people he loved. Family was his favorite place to be. He adored his older sister, and her friends welcomed him as if he were their own little brother. He treasured time spent with his cousins and friends, creating adventures wherever they went. Ash shared her favorite memory of Aiden, was him sneaking out of his room every night after his parents tucked him in, barging into her room, lining up all her stuffed animals around her, tucking her in, and then proceeding to belly flop on top of her to tell her goodnight. Memories to be treasured for a lifetime.

He was unmistakably himself—usually dressed in sweatpants, a silky shirt or hoodie, cowboy boots, and a favorite hat. His favorite colors were black, blue, and red. He could never pass up corn dogs, macaroni and cheese, or pizza, and he was always on the lookout for snacks and sweets, especially Oreos, Swedish Fish, Nerds, Peeps, ice cream, Fanta, and occasionally sneaking one of his sister's Dr Pepper's.

Though his time with us was far too short, Aidey filled every day with laughter, excitement, imagination, and unconditional love. His adventurous spirit, generous heart, and unforgettable smile will forever live on in the stories we share, the places he loved, and the countless lives he touched.

He will be deeply missed, forever loved,
and always remembered.
