The project required the transport of critical equipment and materials from Aberdeen, UK to Ghana in preparation for operations starting in July. The scale of the project involved careful coordination across multiple transport modes and international partners.

The challenge

The client needed a reliable end-to-end logistics solution to move project-critical goods from Aberdeen to Ghana. This involved coordinating multiple phases of transport, including site loading, containerized shipping, and specialized port handling.

Our Solution

- Coordinated collection from the Aberdeen site, including loading into containers and handling via special equipment at the port.
- Oversaw shipping from the UK to Ghana and coordinated with a trusted local partner to ensure seamless road transport to the final site.
- Maintained real-time updates for the client, ensuring full visibility and transparency at each phase of the operation.
- Conducted proactive planning to avoid delays and ensure all equipment arrived on schedule ahead of the drilling campaign.

Results

- All shipments were successfully delivered on time from March to June, meeting the tight project schedule.
- The client expressed high satisfaction with the management of the project, noting the smooth coordination between Unsworth and the Ghanaian agent.
- The success of this project has led to additional opportunities through subsequent tenders, demonstrating trust in Unsworth's capabilities for future campaigns.
