

Autobiography Examples for Children

1. Young Artist's Biography

Hi, I'm Dyllan Blake, and I am 9 years old. I started drawing when I was a little child. One of my first favorite memories is from when I was 4. I drew a picture of our kitten Snowflake. Of course, it wasn't very good, but my mom, dad, and sisters said it was beautiful, which made me believe in myself. Ever since then, I have been drawing all the time. I enjoy drawing different things, including animals, characters from cartoons, landscapes, and more. I especially love experimenting with color and finding creative approaches to regular things. Although I'm just learning, I see my skills improve all the time. Apart from practicing myself, I also take art classes and watch online lectures from artists I like. I want to continue learning to become a professional artist when I grow up because art is much more than just a hobby. It's a part of my personality.

2. Young Athlete's Biography

My name is Derek Spade, and I'm 10 years old. I grew up in a big family with 3 older brothers, so I discovered sports pretty early. I remember my brothers and my dad teaching me to play baseball in our backyard when I was 5. At that time, all my siblings had already played in a school team, and my dad used to play baseball in school and college, too. Looking up to them, I was determined to join our school team too, and now, I'm a part of it. I love spending time with my teammates, practicing, and competing with other teams during games. Being a part of it has taught me to work in a team, stay persistent, and constantly grow.

3. Autobiography of a Young Book Lover

Hi, I'm Jennifer Keen, and I'm 11 years old. My biggest passion is to read! I explored this passion when I was 6 and still love exploring magical and adventurous worlds hidden in books. I enjoy reading before bed and on weekends. I often take a few books with me when we go on family trips and vacations. Some of my favorite books are The Chronicles of Narnia and Harry Potter because they show amazing magical worlds that make me truly excited to learn about. I hope that one day I will be able to become an author and create my own story.

4. Young Musician's Autobiography

My name is Brandon Travis. I am only 11 years old, but I have a passion. Music became a big part of my life when I was little. I loved listening to my grandpa play the guitar and sing, so when I turned 6, he started teaching me. Today, I still enjoy playing the guitar with my friends and alone. I'm taking music lessons at school and practicing writing my own music. What I love about music is that making it brings me feelings of joy, relaxation, and happiness. I will continue to practice to become a professional when I grow up.
