John Solvie (CC) presented the Clark County Area-Wide Water Quality Management Plan Project Update. The project is required by Federal (Section 208 of the Clean Water Act) and State Statutes (NRS 244A.571). Clark County Water Quality is responsible for developing and managing the 208 Plan. The primary focus is wastewater treatment and urban stormwater runoff. The current 208 Plan was adopted in 2009. This plan merged five regional water quality plans from across Clark County into one consolidated plan and identified 8 watersheds areas across Clark County. John Solvie shared that at this time the regulatory permitting requirements have evolved and the watershed planning process is moving towards a one water approach. The treatment plant information and population projections are no longer current, and an NDEP grand-funded evaluation is underway to align the multi-agency functions and consolidate findings into a new streamlined plan. The project scope includes: perform a comprehensive evaluation, develop a new streamlined 208 Plan, perform outreach and receive public comment, and secure approvals from the Clark County commission, NDEP, and EPA. The implementation of the project will strengthen Clark County connections with wastewater and stormwater/watershed agencies.
