We may disclose your personal information to third parties if we are under a duty to disclose or share your personal information in order to comply with any legal obligation, or the terms and conditions of any agreement we enter into.

If, in the future, we sell or transfer some or all of our business or assets to a third party, we may disclose personal information to a potential or actual third party purchaser of our business or assets.

RETENTION

We generally keep personal data only for as long as required to fulfil the purposes for which it was collected (e.g. to process your application for Accreditation or Authorisation for Access). However, in some circumstances, we may retain personal data for other periods of time, for instance where we are required to do so in accordance with legal, tax or accounting requirements, or if required to do so by a legal process, legal authority, or other governmental entity having authority to make the request.

MARKETING

We will not process your personal information for marketing purposes, although we, the clubs or leagues referred to above may for example share press releases that we or they deem relevant to the general media situation.

YOUR RIGHTS

Subject to certain exemptions, and in some cases dependent upon the processing activity we are undertaking, you have the following rights in relation to your personal information:

- Right to access: you have a right to request that we provide you with a copy of your personal information that we hold and you have the right to be informed of; (a) the source of your personal information; (b) the purposes, legal basis and methods of processing; (c) the data controller's identity; and (d) the entities or categories of entities to whom your personal information may be transferred.
- Right of rectification and erasure: you have a right to request that we rectify inaccurate personal information. You can also request that we erase your personal information in limited circumstances where: (i) it is no longer needed for the purposes for which it was collected; (ii) you have withdrawn your consent (where the data processing was based on consent); (iii) following a successful right to object (see right to object); or (iv) it has been processed unlawfully. We are not required to comply with your request to erase personal information if the processing of your personal information is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation or for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims.

- To transfer your personal information: you can ask us to provide your personal information to you in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable format, or you can ask to have it transferred directly to another data controller, but in each case only where: (i) the processing is based on your consent or on the performance of a contract with you; and (ii) the processing is carried out by automated means.
- Right to restrict the processing of your personal information: you can ask us to restrict your personal information, but only where: (i) its accuracy is contested, to allow us to verify its accuracy; (ii) the processing is unlawful, but you do not want it erased; or (iii) it is no longer needed for the purposes for which it was collected, but we still need it to establish, exercise or defend legal claims; or (iv) you have exercised the right to object, and verification of overriding grounds is pending. We can continue to use your personal information following a request for restriction, to establish, exercise or defend legal claims; or to protect the rights of another natural or legal person.
- Right to object to the processing of your personal information: you can object to any processing of your personal information which has our legitimate interests as its legal basis, if you believe your fundamental rights and freedoms outweigh our legitimate interests. If you raise an objection, we have an opportunity to demonstrate that we have compelling legitimate interests which override your rights and freedoms.
- Right to object to how we use your personal information for direct marketing purposes: You can request that we change the manner in which we contact you for marketing purposes. You can request that we not transfer your personal information to unaffiliated third parties for the purposes of direct marketing or any other purposes.
- Right to obtain a copy of personal information safeguards used for transfers outside your jurisdiction: you can ask to obtain a copy of, or reference to, the safeguards under which your personal information is transferred outside of the EEA. We may redact data transfer agreements to protect commercial terms.
- Right to lodge a complaint with your local supervisory authority: you have a right to lodge a complaint with your local supervisory authority (for example, the Information Commissioner's Office) if you have concerns about how we are processing your personal information. We ask that you please attempt to resolve any issues with us first, although you have a right to contact your supervisory authority at any time.

If you wish to access any of the above-mentioned rights, we reserve the right to ask you (or the person making the request on your behalf) to confirm your identity (or, as applicable, their identity), and (as applicable) their authorisation to act on your behalf, in particular before disclosing personal information to you (or the third party on your behalf). We reserve the right to refuse, or to charge a reasonable fee for, any request which we consider to be manifestly unfounded or excessive.

You can exercise your rights by contacting us at info@sfl.ch. Subject to legal and other permissible considerations, we will make every reasonable effort to honour your request promptly or inform you if we require further information in order to fulfil your request. We may not always be able to fully address your request, for example, if it would impact the duty of confidentiality we owe to others, or if we are legally entitled to deal with the request in a different way.
