

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Merge Technologies and Convergent Australia announce strategic alliance to strengthen AV, workplace technology and security capabilities

Sydney, 21 September 2026

Merge Technologies is pleased to announce a strategic alliance with Convergent Australia, bringing together complementary capabilities across AV, workplace technology and electronic security to deliver greater value and specialist expertise to customers.

Convergent acquired POMT in 2023 as demand for integrated workplace technology and collaboration solutions continued to grow. Since then, the AV, workplace technology and electronic security markets have continued to evolve rapidly, creating significant opportunities for businesses with deep specialist expertise and strong customer relationships.

As part of this alliance, Merge Technologies will focus on AV and workplace technology integration and experiences, building on its national footprint, specialist capability and passion for delivering innovative workplace solutions. Merge is well positioned to support customers across existing projects, service arrangements and future workplace technology requirements.

For Convergent, the alliance represents an opportunity to deepen the commitment to its core strength in electronic security and further invest in security solutions across its existing customer base. Convergent will continue to work closely with customers to identify and deliver increasingly integrated, intelligent and technology-enabled security solutions, leveraging its established relationships, technical expertise and significant capabilities across Australia and the broader APAC region.

The alliance also creates opportunities for both organisations to collaborate where AV, workplace technology and security intersect, combining complementary capabilities to support customers as their technology environments continue to converge.

Convergent's ongoing investment in security reflects its long-term commitment to helping customers protect their people, facilities, assets and information. With a strong existing customer base and an expanding portfolio of security capabilities, Convergent is well positioned to continue supporting customers with innovative security solutions that evolve alongside their business and technology needs.

Convergent and Merge will work closely together to ensure continuity for customers, partners and team members, while creating a strong platform for future collaboration and growth across Australia, APAC and beyond.

This alliance reflects a shared commitment to specialist expertise, customer outcomes and continued innovation, while allowing both organisations to focus on the areas where they can deliver the greatest value.

For more information about Merge Technologies, the partnership, or its services, visit mergetechnologies.com.au or contact Grace.

MEDIA CONTACTGrace Tran

Marketing & Communications Manager

Gracet@mergetechnologies.com.au

0450 478 988

mergetechnologies.com.auABOUT MERGE TECHNOLOGIES

Merge Technologies is an Australian-owned workplace technology and audio-visual systems integrator and managed services provider. Founded in Sydney in 2016, Merge has expanded to Melbourne, Brisbane and Perth, delivering thousands of technology-enabled workplaces across Australia. With a dedicated focus on workplace technology and a highly certified team of more than 50 specialists, Merge combines technical expertise with a human-centric approach to design, deployment and ongoing support. Recognised among Australia's fastest growing businesses, Merge was named in the Australian Financial Review's Fast 100 list in both 2024 and 2025 and has received multiple industry awards for its work.

ABOUT CONVERGINT AUSTRALIA

Convergint is a global systems integrator delivering integrated technology solutions across audio-visual, workplace technology, electronic security, cybersecurity, fire and life safety, and building automation. In Australia, Peace of Mind Technology (POMT) officially rebranded as Convergint on 1 September 2025, bringing its local AV and workplace technology expertise together with Convergint's global network. With a focus on service excellence, Convergint works with customers and technology partners to design, install and support solutions that deliver lasting value.