Massage Therapy Consent: Sensitive Areas

Get better today.

Ontario massage therapists need your written consent before treating certain areas of the body. You choose which areas, if any. This form is optional and only needed if treatment of these areas is part of your plan.

Patient name *		Date of birth 	Y Y Y Y - M M - D D

Why this form

Your massage therapist will explain the reason for treating each area before you sign.

Sensitive areas include the chest wall muscles, breast tissue, the gluteal muscles (buttocks) and the upper inner thigh. These areas are only treated when there is a clinical reason, with you appropriately draped at all times, and only with your consent. You can change your mind, ask the therapist to stop, or remove any area at any time, before or during the treatment.
