How do you integrate the issue of sovereignty (geographical or sectoral approach)? Do you have specific objectives?

Meanings Capital Partners addresses sovereignty considerations across its investments through a dual approach:

- Geographic: portfolio invested to date principally in France (Private Equity, Infrastructure and Real Estate).
- Sectoral: the Meanings Infrastructure Fund (Article 9, Impact and Value Add) targets 5 strategic verticals essential to French and European energy sovereignty.

MANAGEMENT COMPANIES

True to its Humanly Responsible Investor® philosophy, Meanings Capital Partners places ecological and social transition at the heart of its strategy. On climate, Meanings guides its portfolio companies toward 1.5°C alignment (SBTi), measures their scope 3 footprint and deploys concrete action plans. On the social side, Meanings promotes diversity, equity, inclusion and value sharing, with sustainability objectives embedded in executives' compensation.

AN EMBLEMATIC STRATEGY

Classified Article 9 SFDR, MIF is Meanings Capital Partners' European Impact and Value Add fund, targeting Lower-Mid Cap infrastructure companies promoting green industry. The fund covers 5 high-potential verticals, with a triple requirement: positive impact (SDGs), Paris Agreement compliance and UNGC/OECD governance. 25% of carried interest is tied to impact objectives. Two active investments: biomass recycling and biowaste recovery.

PORTFOLIO

MyMobility: impact as a performance driver.

In 2018, Meanings invested in this specialist in adapted transport for people with disabilities, convinced that service quality, social impact and financial performance are inseparable. Three pillars: operational excellence, environmental transition (-15% carbon intensity per trip) and employee engagement. Result: growth 1.7x above market, profitability up 50%, +6 market share points. By exit in 2022, MyMobility had raised standards across the entire sector.
