IPSWICH SCHOOL

IPSWICH SCHOOL

Dating back from circa 1399, Ipswich School sits in the heart of Ipswich with a beautiful campus built around the field with two sports sites minutes away from the main school, and students enjoy 60 acres of open space and sports pitches. Ipswich is Suffolk's county town, thought to be one of England's oldest towns, if not the oldest. In recent years it has also been named England's cleanest town. It retains excellent road and rail links to London, Cambridge, the Midlands and the North, with London's Liverpool Street station being just over an hour away.

The town has a vibrant community of about 150,000 inhabitants, who enjoy a beautifully regenerated waterfront area with many restaurants and leisure facilities, a championship football club, a lively theatre, two multiplex cinemas, providing a safe and secure environment in which to experience British culture. Recently voted as one of the top cultural hubs in the UK, Ipswich is the perfect location to explore and immerse yourself in English life.
