

Human Placental Allografts

Human placental tissue is comprised of the amnion and chorion membranes. The avascular membranes act as a protective barrier for the developing fetus and its properties provide a wide variety of potential benefits.

SurSight®

Premium Single Layer Amnion-Derived Allograft for Ophthalmic Applications

SurSight® is a dehydrated, minimally manipulated, amniotic membrane allograft, specifically designed for ophthalmic applications. Derived from a single layer of amnion, SurSight® is terminally sterilized and ready for use in ocular repair and reconstruction procedures. This superior product provides a reliable and effective solution for eye care professionals.
