TECHNOLOGY & INNOVATION INITIATIVE OF THE YEAR

In its 50th year, the Industrial Agents' Society has sought to recognise organisations which have made significant strides in enhancing both the quality of industrial product and its perception within the wider property market. This may include developers who have raised standards of specification, asset managers or owners who have introduced innovative approaches to schemes and buildings, and consultancies who have implemented initiatives delivering tangible benefits to the sector. With ESG now playing a much more prominent role in property ownership, development and occupation, this new Technology and Innovation Award aims to recognise those who have taken steps beyond this. Entries for this category must be made directly by the fund or development company themselves, via the online form. A suitable initiative can be on either on a scheme specific or company wide level, but must have been delivered over the last 12 months. This initiative should demonstrate a progressive and innovative approach to improving the standard of industrial real estate. From the entries, the IAS Awards 2026 Judging Panel will whittle down the nominees into a shortlist. The winner will be selected by the Judging Panel and the IAS Awards Organising Committee.
