From the Desk of Fr. Keith Romke

Dearest Brothers and Sisters,

One of the most common things I hear from people—and something I experience myself—is the desire to pray more. We know prayer is important. We know we need it. We might even decide, “I really need to get better about praying.” And yet somehow another day passes, life gets busy, and prayer gets pushed to tomorrow. I think sometimes the problem is that we unconsciously treat prayer as one more thing we are supposed to accomplish. We have work to do, errands to run, people to take care of, emails to answer, appointments to make and somewhere on that list is “pray.” And when life becomes busy, prayer is often the easiest thing to push aside. But prayer was never meant to be another task on our list. Prayer is where we remember why we are doing everything else in the first place.

At its heart, prayer is simply allowing ourselves to be with God. It is intentionally placing ourselves in the presence of the One who already knows us completely and loves us perfectly. Sometimes that means speaking. Sometimes it means listening. Sometimes it means opening Scripture. Sometimes it means sitting quietly before the Blessed Sacrament. And sometimes prayer is simply looking toward God and saying, “Lord, I don't even know what I need right now, but I know that I need You.” We can make prayer much more complicated than it needs to be. We convince ourselves that we need the perfect environment, enough time, the right words, or the right feelings. But God isn't waiting for the perfect version of us to show up. He simply wants us to show up.

Think about the people you love most. A relationship doesn't grow because once every few months you have one extraordinary conversation. It grows through all of the little moments—the quick phone call, sitting together at the end of the day, sharing something that happened, asking for advice, laughing together, or sometimes simply being together without saying anything at all. Our relationship with God grows the same way. So rather than beginning with the goal of becoming a great person of prayer, begin small. Give God five intentional minutes. Before reaching for your phone in the morning, simply say, “Good morning, Lord. Thank You for this day. Help me live it with You.” When something weighs on you during the day, don't just think about it—turn the thought into prayer: “Jesus, I give this to You.” When something beautiful happens, say, “Thank You.” Before bed, look back over the day and ask, “Lord, where were You today?” Little by little, something changes. Prayer stops being something we occasionally do and becomes the way we begin to live.

This week I invite you to not worry about praying perfectly. Don't wait until life becomes less busy. Don't wait until you feel particularly holy. Invite God into the life you are actually living right now. Because prayer isn't primarily about getting God's attention. We already have His attention. Prayer is about giving Him ours. And when we do, we begin to discover something beautiful: God wasn't waiting somewhere far away for us to find Him. He was already there in the joy, in the stress, in the ordinary, in the uncertainty, in the people around us, and even in the moments when we thought we were alone. We simply needed to stop long enough to notice.

God Bless you,

Fr. Romke

Spiritual Warfare: Confronting the Darkness of our Age

Horror movies, New Age practices, and occult trends are everywhere. It gets marketed as "harmless fun," but treating the spiritual world like a game leaves us anxious, distracted, and numb to the truth. Whether you want to strengthen your faith or are just trying to navigate the noise, this talk is designed to help you recognize these subtle influences and equip you with the practical tools to fight back. Discover the enemy's hidden traps, reclaim your true identity in Christ, and learn why turning to Mary is the ultimate way to keep your eyes fixed on Jesus. Presented by Sr. M. Gabriela Maldonado, SCMC.

Married couples, this Ministry is for YOU!

Our new Marriage Ministry is hosting a series of conversations that you don't want to miss! This is not couples' therapy. Instead, it is an opportunity to build community, celebrate joys, support one another through challenges, and dig deeper into the amazing things our Church wants for us as couples. There is no "perfect" couple or "perfect" marriage, but a strong marriage supports all other areas of life. All SSPP couples welcome! Practicing the Presence of God

By Deacon Mike Boyce

This little 95-page book by the seventeenth century monk, Brother Lawrence of the Resurrection, The Practice of the Presence of God, has been called one of the most valuable of the smaller spiritual masterpieces. Pope Leo XIV wrote “This is one of the texts that have most shaped my spiritual life and formed me in what the path can be for knowing and loving the Lord.”

Join me (Deacon Mike Boyce) for a three-part discussion beginning with an introductory meeting on TUESDAY October 20th at 9:30 am or 7:00 pm. The remaining two dates for the book study will be at the same times on TUESDAY November 3 and 10.

Please note that will be using a new translation in everyday English published in 2025 by Ascension Press. The new version is available from Amazon but not available as an e-book. We will be ordering them the day after the initial meetings on October 20th for anyone who has not purchased their own copy.

Be Part of Something More: Knights of Columbus

What does it mean to put your Catholic faith into action? For the men of the Knights of Columbus at SS. Peter & Paul, it means serving our parish, supporting families, helping those in need, and building a stronger Catholic community together.

The Knights of Columbus is a Catholic fraternal organization founded on four principles: Charity, Unity, Fraternity, and Patriotism. Here at SS. Peter & Paul, our Knights are an active part of parish life, volunteering at events, supporting our parish and school, helping with charitable efforts, and finding practical ways to serve our community. They also provide an opportunity for Catholic men to grow in faith while building friendships with other men who want to live out their faith beyond Sunday Mass.

You don't have to be an expert volunteer, have lots of free time, or know exactly where you can help. Sometimes joining simply means saying, "I'm willing to help." Whether you enjoy hands-on service, helping at parish events, supporting charitable causes, or simply want to meet other Catholic men, there is a place for you.

The Knights are looking for men who want to serve, grow in faith, build friendships, and make a difference—both here at SS. Peter & Paul and throughout our local community.

The Knights of Columbus will be speaking at all Masses this weekend. After Mass, stop by their table to meet some of our Knights, learn more about what they do, and discover how you can become involved.

Come see what the Knights are all about. You may find that this is exactly the opportunity you've been looking for!
