From the Desk of Fr. Keith Romke

My dear parish family,

I am so grateful to share with you that I had an absolutely amazing retreat last week! I came home feeling not simply rested and recharged, but something even more important: reconnected with the heart of the Father. There is something so beautiful about stepping away from the busyness of life, quieting all the noise, and simply allowing ourselves to be with God. And while I certainly needed the rest, what I received was something much deeper. I was reminded once again just how much our Heavenly Father loves us and how deeply He desires to draw us close to His heart.

During one of my guided prayer sessions, I was asked a question that really struck me: "Which person of the Trinity do you most often turn to when you pray?" As I thought about it, I realized that most of the time, I simply pray to "God." Now, there's certainly nothing wrong with that! After all, there is only one God. But I began to recognize how much I was missing by not more intentionally entering into a personal relationship with each of the three Divine Persons: the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. Each is fully God, and yet each is a distinct Person, and there is something so incredibly life-giving about coming to know and love each of them more personally.

What especially struck me during my retreat was the invitation to draw closer to the Father. Think about this for a moment. Throughout the Old Testament, God revealed Himself to His people as the one true God. But with the coming of Jesus, something extraordinary happened. Jesus revealed to us the mystery of God's own inner life: that the one God is Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. And Jesus didn't come simply to teach us something new about God. He came to bring us into a relationship with God! He came to reveal the Father's love and to lead us home to Him. Again and again throughout the Gospels, Jesus speaks about His Father, prays to His Father, and invites us to know the Father as He does. He even teaches us to begin our own prayer with those beautiful words: "Our Father."

And here's why I think this is so incredibly important. It is in coming to know the Father's heart that we begin to discover who we truly are. So often, we define ourselves by what we do, what we've accomplished, how others see us, or even by our failures and shortcomings. But none of those things reveal our deepest identity. Our deepest identity is found in the love of the Father, who created us, knows us, and calls us to become His beloved sons and daughters through Jesus Christ. Before we accomplish anything, before we prove ourselves worthy of anything, we are already loved. And the more we allow that truth to move from our heads into our hearts, the more it changes everything about how we live.

So, I'd love to invite you to do something this week. Find a few minutes when you can be completely still. Put your phone away, turn off the distractions, and simply sit in the presence of God. Take a few slow, gentle breaths and allow yourself to become quiet. Then, in the simplicity of your heart, ask: "Father, would You reveal Your heart to me? Would You help me to know how much You love me?" And then just be still. Don't feel like you have to come up with the right words or make something happen. Simply pay attention. Notice what begins to stir within you, not just the thoughts that pass through your mind, but what you begin to sense deep within your heart. Perhaps it will be a sense of peace, a memory, a longing, or simply a quiet awareness of His presence. And perhaps you won't notice anything at all right away. That's okay too! Prayer isn't about producing a particular feeling. It's about opening our hearts to a Father who is already there, who already loves us, and who desires to draw us closer to Himself. I cannot encourage you enough to give Him that opportunity!

On another note, I am also very excited to share some wonderful news! I will once again be leading a pilgrimage to France, May 2–14, 2027! After our last pilgrimage, I heard from so many people who wished they could have joined us and asked whether I would consider offering it again. And after witnessing the incredible spiritual fruit that came from that experience, I couldn't be happier to have the opportunity to return! There is something truly special about stepping away from our normal routines and encountering the Lord in places where the faith has been lived, celebrated, and handed down for centuries. A pilgrimage is so much more than a trip. It is an opportunity to encounter God in a new way, to deepen our faith, and to allow Him to work in our hearts in ways we might never have expected.

But one of the greatest blessings I've witnessed through these pilgrimages isn't simply the spiritual fruit that each individual receives. It's the beautiful relationships that are formed along the way! I've watched people who have been sitting in the same pews at Saints Peter and Paul for years, perhaps recognizing one another's faces but never really having met, return from a pilgrimage feeling like family. When you pray together, share meals, experience beautiful holy places, laugh together, and open your hearts to God alongside one another, something wonderful happens. Friendships are formed that continue long after everyone returns home. And I absolutely love seeing those relationships continue to grow right here in our parish!

For that reason, while I truly love welcoming anyone and everyone who desires to join us on pilgrimage, I want to do something a little different this time. In the past, I've typically offered our parishioners a two-week opportunity to register before opening the pilgrimage to others. But the more I witness the beautiful fruit that comes from members of our parish family journeying together, the more I want to prioritize that opportunity. So this time, I'm offering a full month of exclusive registration for our SSPP parish family! From now until December 12, registration will be reserved for our parishioners. And please know that if you would like to invite family members or friends who don't belong to our parish to join you, that is absolutely fine! They are more than welcome to register with you during this initial window. My hope is simply to make sure that all of you, my parish family, have the first opportunity to be part of this incredible experience.

If you're interested, please take a look at the flyer on page 8 of this bulletin and reach out to Katie for more details! Spots are limited, so I really encourage you not to wait too long to sign up. If you feel the Lord stirring something in your heart, inviting you to step away from the ordinary and encounter Him in these extraordinary places, I would hate for you to miss out on the opportunity. I would absolutely love to have you join us!

Whether it's through a few quiet moments of prayer this week or through a pilgrimage halfway across the world, my hope is the same: that each of us would come to know more deeply the incredible love of our Heavenly Father. Because ultimately, that's what this journey of faith is all about. We have a Father who loves us beyond anything we can imagine, and He is continually inviting us to come closer to His heart.

Blessings,
Fr. Romke

The Poor

By Deacon Juan Luna

"There was a rich man whose fields had produced abundantly. He thought: What am I going to do? I have nowhere to store my crops. And he said to himself: I will do this: I will tear down my barns and build larger ones; there I will store all my grain, all my reserves." Luke 12:16-18

Today, this way of acting and seeing things is what the world offers us, and it almost drags all of us into accumulating, accumulating, accumulating until we reach a point where we accumulate material things excessively.

People may have as many as 10-15 pairs of shoes, 5-15 jackets, 2-3 cars, and even two houses. And this human behavior can be healthy and successful, because a person's hard and honest work should bear abundant fruit and is looked upon favorably by the Church. The controversy begins when a person is tempted by greed, by excessive accumulation, and forgets about one's neighbor to the point of using others for personal benefit and enrichment. It is at this moment that the rich person is identified by showing an inability to let go. However, there are also thousands of wealthy people who share, help, create foundations to assist the poor, and follow the message of the Gospel.

Throughout the years, the Church has shown its love and care for the poor. We see Catholic movements working to bring help to those most in need. And it is precisely the poor who show us another way of living, a precarious but hopeful way, a way of life marked by deprivation, fragility, exclusion, and abuse. They also live with a lack of spiritual care, and the Church works diligently to address their needs.

"Jesus answered: If you want to be perfect, go, sell what you have and give it to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven. Then come, follow me." Matthew 19:21

And it is Jesus himself who preaches care for the poor. Jesus was born in extremely poor circumstances, coming into the world in an unhealthy and abandoned place, showing all his love and humility for us by being born alongside the poor, amid hardship, because this is the life of the poor. But the poor carry a great message for all humanity: they teach us to live with what is essential and not to live worried about having more. In the midst of their hardships, we can see happiness and joy in them.

"Poverty has structural causes that must be confronted and eliminated. While this is happening, we are all called to create new signs of hope that bear witness to Christian charity, as many saints did throughout every age. Hospitals and schools, for example, are institutions created to express welcome toward the weakest and most marginalized. Today they should already be part of the public policies of every country, but wars and social inequalities prevent this."

Message of Pope Leo XIV for the Ninth World Day of the Poor, November 16, 2025

Poverty is a very complex structure that has existed throughout history in every country in the world. To close this writing, I want to mention the words of the well-known Mexican comic artist Mario Moreno "Cantinflas" in one of his many successful films. He said: "Many politicians proclaim in their messages that they want to get rid of the poor, but what is really needed is to get rid of the rich." This metaphor was merely an opinion of the comedian. Today I must let go of what I have in excess and even of what I do not have in excess; I must give my time and attention to the poor.

The poor live with the essentials.
