

JULY 2025 - PORTFOLIO UPDATE

The Australian market (XKOAI) rose +2.4% in July, building on good monthly gains since March. In the US the return was similar for the S&P500 index +2.2%, however the tech-biased NASDAQ +3.7% was stronger. China (MSCI) +4.9% also outperformed as did the UK FTSE +4.2%, whilst Japan 1.4% and Germany (DAX) 0.7% were less buoyant. Government 10-yr bond yields rose slightly in both in the US and Australia, indicating a relatively stable but watchful outlook regarding inflation. The Australian dollar fell -2.4%, as the US dollar rose on the back of ongoing healthy US economic data.

In Australia, the small and mid-cap market sectors posted better returns than the top 20 stocks. Quality as a factor was notable. It was also noteworthy that Momentum as a factor lagged, in stark contrast to recent months.

The Ex-20 benchmark was up +2.7%. The Quest portfolio outperformed delivering a +4.9% return.

There was a clear sector rotation in Australia, with Health (+9%) the best, benefiting as investors shifted some banks and large caps. Resources (+5%) were also strong supported by higher iron ore and lithium prices. Gold stocks (-7%), by contrast, underperformed despite gold rising +1%. Energy (+5%), Tech (+5%) and Utilities (+5%) were also solid. Amongst commodities, oil bounced (Brent +7%) as did thermal coal (+5%) and iron ore (+5%). In contrast, natural gas (-11%), uranium (-10%) and copper (-3%) were weak.

Technology and growth stocks were prominent drivers of portfolio outperformance, particularly small caps. In general, those companies with exposure to the US, including consumers, did well. This contrasts with what occurred when Trump first up-ended world order with his radical trade policies earlier in the year which hurt our portfolio. Notably, health investments were also rewarded after a long period of quiescence.

Strongest returns came from Life360 (+25%), Qoria (+21%), Hansen Technologies (+21%), Block Inc. (+18%) and Catapult (+13%). The Johns Lyng Group (+23%) also jumped after receiving a $4.00 takeover over which the board endorsed. Other good contributors include Immutep (+13%), Superloop (+12%), Breville (+12%) and Wisetech (+10%).

Fund managers GQG Partners (-9%) and HMC Capital (-27%) were detractors, along with gold miners Northern Star Resources (-16%) and Vault Minerals (-13%).

We continue to adjust holdings to manage portfolio risk. New positions in Amcor, Challenger and Infratil were made using profits from our stronger performers and the sale of HMC. We now head into reporting season where outlook statements will be key. Importantly, the RBA is expected to lower interest rates which should support market valuations. Cash sits at 5%.

INVESTMENT PROFILE

The Quest X20 Portfolio is a Unit Trust, actively managed by Quest Asset Partners. The Portfolio comprises between 20 and 40 securities and aims to outperform the S&P/ASX 300 index excluding the 20 largest companies. This Unit Trust is managed in the same way as the Quest Ex-20 SMA (Separately Managed Account) which was established in January 2017. Performance for the Quest Ex-20 SMA is available on request.

The Portfolio will have significant exposure to mid and small-capitalised stocks benefiting from our proven investment process and experience with smaller companies.

The assessment of business quality is fundamental to the Quest investment process. We aim to identify companies that can deliver good returns on invested capital and sustain those returns through time. Quest has a long track record of investment performance leveraging this process.

The portfolio will typically have a bias to companies with growth characteristics (revenue, earnings and return on equity) and can be expected to have significant exposure to companies not in the benchmark. Both these exposures will vary through time as opportunities arise.

Portfolio risk is actively managed with a focus on capital preservation.
