

Sock it! (and put the savings in your pocket!)

From the company that has made its name in audio interface for over 35 years, brings you the next step in the evolution of an ever changing and adapting industry, with the expansion of our Fiber Optic Department. We are now shipping our fully terminated Fiber Optic assemblies “Spooled and Socked” ready for installation, and just like all of our products, they’re tested, certified, and built for the long haul. From the simplest of cables, to the world’s most elaborate custom installations, Whirlwind’s certified Fiber Optic department is second to none. Call us today and find out for yourself how Whirlwind is changing an industry - 1-800-733-9473.

Ask about our “Socked Fiber” for a safe, easy, and pre-terminated conduit pull.

Both fanouts are treated with Snakeskin® on each individual channel, protected with bubble wrap and encased in a Snakeskin® sock. The end of the sock is triple-tied behind the adhesive fanout shrink, (shrink has been bonded to Kevlar strength members), ensuring that absolutely no tension is applied to the fanout during the pull.
