About the Foundation:

Since its inception in November 2020, the Foundation has successfully managed to grant over 6.7 million dollars to 38 organizations across Canada from, sea to sea to sea, in each region of Canada for Inuit, First Nation, and Métis Scoop Survivors to begin the work of healing Survivors through reclamation, reunion, and cultural practices reconnecting them to what has been lost.

We believe that investing in our community is essential for positive change. Through this grant program, we hope to empower organizations that share our commitment to Sixties Scoop Survivors, their families, and/or descendants.

The NSSHFC seeks to provide opportunities for Sixties Scoop Survivors, their Families, and Descendants to find community, and claim a sense of place within safe and sacred spaces for Health, Healing, and Wellness, and support. The Foundation does this by providing grants to First Nations, Inuit, and Métis organizations and service providers that work alongside Sixties Scoop Survivors.

In the previous grants since 2021, the recipients represented a generous cross-section of the country, from the East Coast Region (Newfoundland, PEI, New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia) to the Central Canada Region (Ontario and Quebec), to the Prairie Region (Manitoba Alberta and Saskatchewan), and finally to the West Coast Region (Yukon and British Columbia). Northern Region (Nunavut and Northwest Territories).
