Little Earrings, Big Personalities

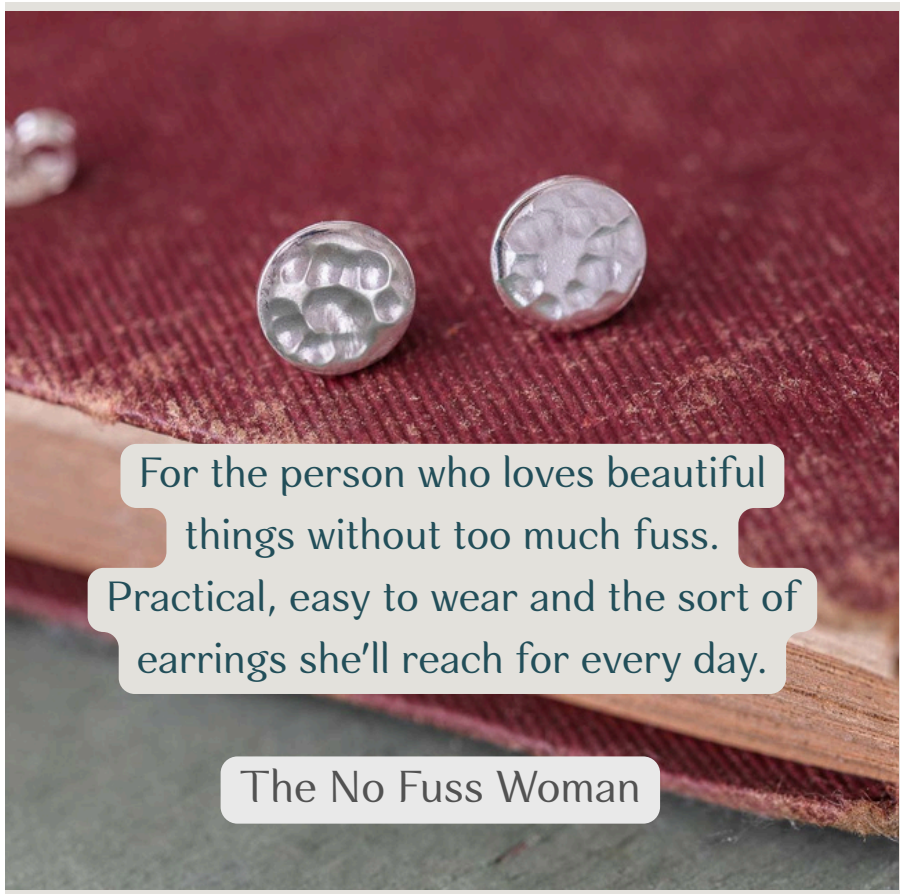

A LITTLE GUIDE TO CHOOSING
THE PERFECT PAIR OF
HANDMADE SILVER STUDS

For the person who knows every flower in their garden, leaves the dandelions for the bees and is happiest pottering amongst the plants.
The Garden Potterer

For the person who loves rustling leaves, woodland walks and the changing seasons. Someone who always notices the little things in nature.
The Woodland Wanderer

For the person who loves salty air, windswept beaches and collecting little treasures along the shoreline. A tiny piece of Norfolk to treasure.
The Beachcomber

For the person who knows their robins from their wrens, keeps the bird feeders topped up and never tires of watching the garden visitors.
The Birdwatcher

For the person who loves beautiful things without too much fuss. Practical, easy to wear and the sort of earrings she'll reach for every day.
The No Fuss Woman

For the person who treasures old photographs, keeps little mementoes and loves things with a story. A little reminder of days gone by.
The Nostalgic Soul

For the person who keeps handwritten cards, remembers special moments and knows that sometimes the smallest gestures mean the most.
The Romantic

For the dreamer who loves moonlit skies, twinkling stars and a little bit of magic. Who says earrings always have to match?
The Stargazer

A little note from my bench

I hope this little guide has helped you find the perfect pair of earrings for someone special.

Every pair is handmade by me at my jeweller's bench in Fakenham, Norfolk, inspired by the places, people and little moments that make life meaningful.

Whether it's a reminder of a favourite beach, a love of nature or simply a little something to make someone smile, I believe the loveliest jewellery is the jewellery that tells a story.

Thank you for supporting handmade.

With love,
Claire x
